Niles Voters Save School Sports Program

BY AL AREND
Staff Writer

NILES — It took four attempts, but Niles school district voters finally approved a property tax rate hike for school operations yesterday. With the fate of the system's athletic program and one of its two junior highs at stake, voters turned out in record numbers to approve the two-mill, one-year request by an unofficial count of 3,563 to 2,911, according to Dr. William Fairman, superintendent. Supt. Fairman said he was "pleased with the voter response" (nearly 65 per cent of the district's estimated 10,000 registered voters turned out), but added "We still have a lot of work to do." Next year, the district's entire extra voted millage, now at 21.5 mills expires.

Yesterday's millage approval means varsity sports will go on as scheduled and split sessions at Ballard junior high will end with the reopening of Ring Lardner junior high. Supt. Fairman said it would take three to four weeks to move back into Ring Lardner ending split sessions at the junior high level. In June, school district voters defeated a two-mill request. A four-mill levy was rejected twice earlier in the year.

Besides saving varsity sports and restoring classes at Ring Lardner, the money raised by the additional two mills will be used to replace worn out textbooks and educational equipment, and partially restore a custodial staff trimmed back after previous tax election defeats. The additional two mills, combined with a corresponding increase in state aid will raise an estimated $100,000 toward the district's $9.5 million operating budget for 1977-78. The district's total tax rate will now be 32.546 mills, a .92-of-a-mill increase. The total tax rate will not increase two mills, since under a one-year state aid program, some school districts can get reimbursement for lowering the district's bonded indebtedness.

In the case of Niles, the state would reimburse the district some $30,000 for lowering the bonded indebtedness from 2.75 mills to 1.57 mills, a 1.08 mill reduction. The school board, as part of its sales pitch, said it would reduce the district's bonded indebtedness 1.08 mills if the two mills additional for operations met approval.

WORKERS STRIKE TEACHERS' UNION

Heat Rising

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House Budget Director Bert Lance is facing increasing pressure to resign as federal investigators prepare to reveal a new report about alleged improprieties in the use of money and an airplane owned by Lance's Georgia bank.

Lance, a long-time friend of President Carter, now is the subject of investigations that involve the Justice Department, the comptroller of the currency, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Internal Revenue Service, and by a House subcommittee and a Senate committee, armed with subpoena powers.

Comptroller of the Currency John G. Heimann planned today to reveal the findings of his investigation into allegations about Lance's use of bank money and aircraft owned by the National Bank of Georgia for private and political purposes.

Despite White House denials of published reports that Lance's hours as director of the White House Office of Management and Budget are numbered, the burly Georgia banker clearly was losing ground Tuesday.

Earlier, the White House had been adamant in its insistence that Lance would not resign. But Tuesday, when Carter briefly encountered reporters asking whether Lance would keep his job, the President did not take advantage of the opportunity to stick up for the budget director, replying: "We'll see about that later."

Teachers in more than half of 31 southwestern Michigan school districts still are working without contracts today, but the only strike so far is against the teachers' own union.

Secretaries and service workers for the Michigan Education Association set up picket lines Tuesday at MEA headquarters in Lansing and stayed home from work at MEA district offices across the state.

Leading the way in the strike is Mrs. Vera Stafford, secretary for the MEA's Van Buren county office in Bangor and state president of the Service Staff Association, which represents secretaries and other service employees.

The strike is forcing MEA staff members to operate out of their homes or cars while trying to keep track of negotiations in districts where teacher contracts have expired.

As of this morning, only 14 of 31 southwestern Michigan districts had either reached contract agreement or had their teachers working under multi-year contracts that did not expire this year.

Still unsettled were contracts in Benton Harbor, Brandywine, Buchanan, Eau Claire, Galien and River Valley in Berrien county; Bloomingdale, Decatur, Covert, Hartford, Lawrence, Paw Paw and South Haven in Van Buren county; and all four Cass county districts — Dowagiac, Cassopolis, Edwardsburg and Marcellus.

Statewide, The Associated Press reported 10 districts closed down by strikes following a walkout at Flint this morning.

About 122,000 students stayed home across the state, and the head of the state's largest teacher union predicted additional walkouts soon.

Michigan Education Association President Keith Geiger said virtually all of the current strikes involving 5,100 teachers stemmed from differences over money issues in new contracts.

The 1,800-member United Teachers of Flint voted by a 3-to-1 margin Tuesday night to strike until a new contract is reached. A state labor mediator was called in. The 37,000-student district is the biggest idled in the state.

Bargainers in some of the strikebound districts said settlements were close Tuesday, Geiger reported, but he predicted new strikes in "four or five days" in other districts where contracts were not yet settled.

The second-largest strike was in Oakland County's Waterford district, with 779 teachers and nearly 18,000 students idle.

Other struck districts included Birmingham, Southfield, Madison, Bay City, Davison, Munising, Dexter and Highland Park.

In some cases, Tuesday was to have been the first day of school; in others, it had been designed as a day for teachers to become familiarized with their schools and for some pupils to do likewise.

The 16 teachers in the Upper Peninsula district of Chassel stayed home Tuesday, but were to report today.

A spokesman for the teachers said the one-day strike was to protest the fact that this is the second consecutive year teachers are starting classes without a contract.

Issues in the strike by MEA employees include salary, fringe benefits, composition of the bargaining unit and a dispute over the seniority of newly-hired workers. MEA officials said they expected to resume bargaining today.

Bargaining on a new pact began June 20, and mediation was held Sept. 3 without an agreement reached. Their old contract ran for three years and expired Aug. 31.

The union and 125 professional staff members settled two weeks ago on a new contract following a two-hour strike. Some of those employees stayed away Tuesday, not wanting to cross the secretaries' picket lines.

May Ask Korea To Return Park On Indictments

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter may personally ask South Korea's president to return fugitive businessman Tongson Park to the United States to face trial for conspiracy to buy friendly treatment from Congress.

Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell appealed for Carter's help Tuesday as the Justice Department unseals a 36-count felony indictment that charges Park with conspiracy and corruption. The federal grand jury indictment provides the first official details of the alleged South Korean scheme to lavish money and other gifts on certain members of Congress in exchange for their efforts to promote South Korean interests.

Bell said he wants Carter to contact South Korean President Park Chung-hee to ask that he arrange for Tongson Park's return. The attorney general said he has no hint about whether President Park would cooperate.

Park disappeared from Washington when the congressional scandal began developing. He arrived in Seoul about a week ago after spending the past year in London.

Tongson Park, whose Georgetown parties were the talk of the Washington social set, was the pivotal figure in a conspiracy from about 1967 to Dec. 31, 1975, to bribe members of the House and Senate "for the purpose of inducing them to take official action and make decisions favorable to the Republic of Korea" and the Park Chung-hee regime, the indictment said.

Former Rep. Richard T. Hanna, D-Calif., was named an unindicted co-conspirator and was described as Park's sidekick and chief adviser on who should receive the bribes.

An unindicted co-conspirator often is a person who has cooperated with the prosecution. However, Benjamin R. Civiletti, head of the Justice Department's criminal division, said Hanna was not cooperating in the investigation.

Two former directors of the Korean Central Intelligence Agency, Kim Hyung-wook and Lee Hui-rak, also were named unindicted co-conspirators and were accused of handling the Korean end of the scheme. Throughout the period of the alleged conspiracy Park acted as an agent of the South Korean (See back page, sec. 1, col. 1)

CORNELIA MOVES OUT: Cornelia Wallace, wife of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, moved out of executive mansion in Montgomery Tuesday saying she could "no longer endure vulgarity, threats and abuse." (AP Wirephotos)

Mrs. Wallace Moves Out Of State Mansion

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — With her six-year marriage to Gov. George C. Wallace apparently coming to an end, Cornelia Wallace has instructed her attorneys to "do what is necessary" to protect her.

Whether that means a divorce, Mrs. Wallace, 38, wouldn't say for certain Tuesday, as she had her personal belongings moved from the executive mansion.

But Montgomery attorney Ira DeMent said Tuesday evening that he and two other attorneys representing Mrs. Wallace — George Dean of Destin, Fla., and John Kohn of Montgomery — soon will discuss with the governor's attorney an "amicable settlement."

DeMent said the governor was told Tuesday afternoon as his wife supervised the packing of her belongings that his attorney would be contacted.

According to DeMent, Wallace's response was simply, "Fine."

Wallace's attorney, Maury Smith, was unavailable for comment.

It was Smith's name that appeared on a divorce petition that surfaced a month ago, apparently drawn up on the governor's behalf, but unsigned by anyone. Nor was it filed in any court.

The document cited "complete incompatibility of temperament" and an "irretrievable breakdown of the marriage" as Wallace's reasons for seeking to end the marriage.

Mrs. Wallace left the executive mansion Tuesday, accompanied by DeMent and Dean. In a brief statement issued as a moving van stood ready to take her belongings from the mansion, she said:

"I have struggled a long time to preserve my marriage. I have left the mansion, for I can no longer endure the vulgarity, threats and abuse. I have instructed my lawyers to do what is necessary to protect me. I have nothing further to say at this time."

DeMent told reporters Mrs.

Wallace planned to live "with friends," but would not say who they were or where they lived.

Wallace, 58, issued a one-sentence statement about the separation:

"It's a private matter and I trust that our friends can treat it as such."

Mrs. Wallace was no stranger to politics when she and Wallace were married Jan. 4, 1971, a few days before he began his second term as governor. Her uncle, James E. "Big Jim" Folsom, was twice elected governor of Alabama.

Mrs. Wallace is the mother of two sons from a previous marriage to John Snively, whom she divorced. The governor has a son and three daughters born to his first wife, who died of cancer in May 1968 while serving as Alabama's only woman governor.

Labor Day Road Toll Now 469

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A total of 469 persons died in traffic accidents nationwide over the three-day Labor Day weekend.

The Labor Day count, which started at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Monday local time, was one less than the National Safety Council's estimate of between 470 and 570 deaths.

During a three-day non-holiday weekend in late summer, about 400 persons would die in traffic, the council said.

During the 1976 Labor Day holiday period, there were 501 traffic fatalities. The worst toll was in 1968 when 688 persons were killed.

Berrien Fund Split Extension Granted

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

GRAND RAPIDS — U.S. District Court Judge Noel Fox has given five Berrien county governmental units an extension until next Monday to reach a settlement on how to split $2.77 million in federal public works money among themselves.

Judge Fox yesterday granted the extension so that the five parties — Benton township, Berrien county government, City of Benton Harbor, Benton Harbor Area schools and Niles township — can have more time to agree on how the funds should be split.

On Aug. 18, Fox gave the five governmental units 15 days to come up with a settlement and the five parties passed the court-ordered deadline Friday without reaching an agreement.

The request for the extension was made by the Chicago office of the U.S. Economic Development Administration, administrators of the federal public works funds, according to Atty. Thomas Robinson, representing Benton township.

Robinson said the Chicago EDA office wants more time to review the case with EDA headquarters in Washington. The five Berrien county governmental units did not object to the extension, Robinson said.

The only meeting scheduled during the extension period so far is between Benton township and Berrien county. Robinson said attorneys and officials from the two municipalities will meet later this week to talk about how the funds should be split.

Benton Harbor City Manager Melvin Farmer Jr. said last night the city has no plans to meet with any other governmental unit during the extension period. Representatives from the City of Benton Harbor and Benton Harbor Area schools are the only governmental units that have formally met so far to discuss a settlement. The city and school system, however, failed to reach agreement.

The battle over the federal funds began in June when Benton township filed suit in federal district court to recover a $1,195 million allocation promised by the EDA. The EDA reneged on the allocation saying it had erred in allocating the money to Benton township and said the money should go to the City of Benton Harbor.

Benton township in July won a temporary restraining order blocking distribution of the $2.77 million earmarked for all Berrien county units.

The City of Benton Harbor, Berrien county government, Benton Harbor Area schools and Niles township all filed motions to become interveners in Benton township's suit.

Originally, the EDA had an-

Wondering What They'll Get In Return

American workers, after years of paying Social Security taxes, are beginning to wonder what they'll get in return. The nation's 40-year-old retirement system has been paying out more than it takes in for the last three years, and government forecasters see no end in sight. There is no danger that benefits checks will stop. But the Social Security "crisis" could mean much higher taxes — or lower benefits — or both.

Congress this fall will consider new financing for the system. Because of politics, the effort to wipe out the red ink may ignore the worst problems.

There are two funding crises. The system now is running short because of recent inflation and recession which increased costs through higher benefits and lowered tax revenues that support the system. In the longer run, population changes will strain the system.

Northwestern University economist W. Kip Viscusi says the government is preoccupied with the short-term problem. "That's nothing compared to what will happen 50 years from now...when (Social Security) costs increase by around 50 per cent," he says. "It will be difficult, when the crunch comes, for the elderly to start supporting themselves."

The "crunch," according to Viscusi and others, will come after the turn of the century, when the post-World War II "baby boom" generation reaches retirement age. If current demographic trends — low birth rates and longer life spans — continue, the elderly population will keep increasing as the work force shrinks. In the year 2030, for example, government projections show that only two people will be working and paying Social Security taxes to support each person drawing benefits, compared to three workers per beneficiary today. The system operates on a "pay-as-you-go" basis, meaning that taxes collected from workers are paid out in benefits the same year.

In addition, costs could skyrocket in the future because of a flaw in the method used to figure retirement benefits that overcompensates for inflation. It accounts for about half of the system's expected long-run deficit. The defective formula was accidentally written into the law.

Though anxious to correct the inflation formula, the Carter administration would prefer to concentrate on Social Security's more immediate financial difficulties, and deal with demographics later.

"The trends could change," explained a White House aide. "A few years ago, we wouldn't have made the same forecasts we're making now."

The immediate problem is that Social Security payment will exceed tax revenues by an estimated $5.6-billion in 1977, following deficits of $3.2-billion in 1976 and $1.2-billion in 1975. Without additional revenues or adjustments in benefit levels, the government forecasts depletion of the Social Security trust fund reserves by the early 1980s. The administration's Social Security proposals would pump an additional $33-billion into the system over the next five years through a combination of higher payroll taxes and other changes in financing and benefits.

The most controversial proposal would use federal revenues obtained from income taxes to supplement payroll taxes that workers and employers now pay to support the system. Although this would be done only in high unemployment periods, the idea weakens the traditional contributory nature of the program and makes it more like welfare.

In addition, if the principle of using general tax is established the political pressures for huge benefit increases will be enormous and very difficult for elected officials to resist. The nation already has a potent "old people's" lobby that will grow stronger as its size increases.

Tax-writing committees in both houses appear inclined to raise payroll taxes, generally sooner than the administration would like. A key issue: who will pay? A Senate Finance Committee alternative, modeled after an administration proposal, would add approximately $7-billion to employers' payroll tax bills in 1978. In the House Ways and Means Committee, Chairman Al Ullman (D-Ore.) is expected to press for payroll tax rate hikes amounting to about $4-billion in 1978, shared by employers and employees.

Such proposals are populist poppycock. They are simply more back-breaking burdens on American business and labor alike. The only ultimate solution to the Social Security mess is to take the whole system out of politics. That means limiting the program to stipulated, non-inflationary retirement benefits, cutting out dozens of fringes that should be shifted to direct welfare. Otherwise, the biggest rip-off in history faces generations of American workers somewhere down the road. The money simply isn't going to be ready for their retirement when they are.

Making It Easier For Uncle Sam To Collect

Over the years the United States has extended loans of one kind or another to more countries than any other nation. Many of these loans have been paid back, and on time. Others, some dating to World War I, have only been partially repaid or not at all.

The incentive for many of the debtors to repay in many cases was little more than national pride. But in 1976, Congress added an incentive to repayment by including an amendment to the foreign assistance appropriations act calling for a cutoff of future aid to countries which default on their repayments.

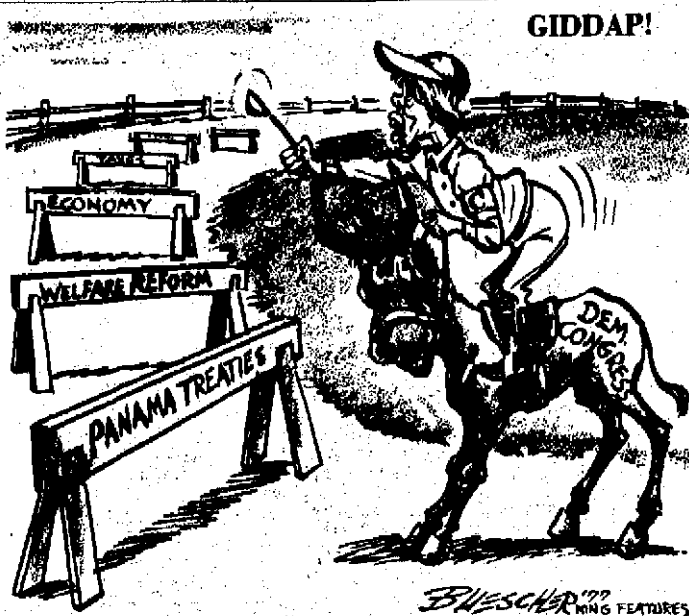

How has that provision worked in the last year? Not badly, according to the Treasury Department's list of debtors. The department's list of delinquent loans — those 90 days or more past due — dropped from a total of $1 billion at the beginning of the year to $753 million by the end of the first quarter.

A number of countries, including Greece, Jordan and Kuwait, cleaned up their past due obligations completely. Others simply made payments on their accounts. But it does mark the first time in a number of years that the total aid debt has been reduced.

Even the friendliest of bankers have found it doesn't hurt to give forgetful debtors a nudge from time to time.

Baroda Okays Housing Rehabilitation Grants

BARODA — The Baroda village council approved two rehabilitation grants as presented by Mrs. Miriam Ohmann, an associate with Leslie R. Cripps and Associates, Berrien Springs, at its regular meeting last night.

Cripps is the village's planning consultant for the housing rehabilitation program funded by a U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) community development grant of $130,000.

The council approved a $3,205 bid for rehabilitation for Paul Barchett of 1410 Center street. The council also approved $840 under the loan interest supplemental section of the grant for Virginia Russell of 1778 Stevensville-Baroda road.

In other areas related to the program, the council directed Cripps to advertise for bids for demolition of five properties.

The council instructed Dan Delay, village attorney, to begin condemnation proceedings on the Stewart home on the northwest corner of Lake street and Cornelius drive.

Ronald Miller, acting president in the absence of village president Jerry Pilley, appointed Larry Nye and Howard Gaul to a sidewalk committee to meet with Baroda township officials and come up with some proposals on the use of $10,000 for sidewalks under the HUD community development program.

The council authorized clerk, Helen Tolles, to pay up to $500 to complete work on a rehabilitation project of the grant had already been approved by the council.

In other areas, the council, on suggestion from the police department, approved paying for the cost of materials to block the passageway between Art Goldberg's and the Sundae Shop, on Main street, subject to the landowner's approval.

The council voted to accept a written agreement presented by

Every Gift Has A Price On It

WASHINGTON — The single most predictable reaction to Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel's recent political corruption conviction came from Mandel himself.

"I'm not walking out feeling that I have done anything to hurt the people of this state," he said, "I love it too much to have done anything to hurt it."

Sadly enough, Mandel believed every word of it. To his dying day, he will never understand what was wrong with accepting more than $350,000 worth of gifts from wealthy friends who happened to engage in business ventures that benefitted from his gubernatorial influence.

The governor has lots of company. In recent years, we have seen an ever-lengthening parade of politicians march off to prison proclaiming their innocence, and nowhere has the line been longer than in Mandel's own state of Maryland.

To a man, they have blamed their troubles on somebody else — ambitious prosecutors, political rivals, headline-hunting reporters.

Aid to a man, they have cried in bewilderment that "everybody does it," that politics survives on backscratching, that somehow they have been unfairly singled out.

Mandel's political cronies rallied behind the governor at his darkest hour, claiming he had been victimized by changing standards of political morality.

"It's like they changed the rules in the middle of the game," moaned one former state legislator whom Mandel appointed to a Baltimore City judgeship.

"In politics we were all raised with the idea that the guys who helped you, you favored."

Noisense. The practice of politics may all too often involve the use of public office for private gain, but the "rules of the game" have never sanctioned such conduct. The rules of the game, for politicians and private citizens alike, are contained in the laws of this nation and its 50 states. And bribery, in a matter how discreetly clothed, has always been prohibited under those rules.

It is true that many Americans, even a majority, believe that all politicians are on the take — however unfair that assessment may be.

But the mere fact that furries so regularly convict public officials who are brought to trial on corruption charges should disabuse those who believe such conduct is condoned by ordinary citizens.

The truth of the matter is that average citizens, in Maryland as elsewhere, retain a deep and proper sense of outrage towards politicians who use their public office for the private benefit of themselves or their friends.

Mandel tried to tell the jury in Baltimore that he had done absolutely nothing in exchange for all the cash, jewelry, business interests and free trips which his co-defendants had lavished upon him.

You could almost hear the echoes in Capitol Hill, where any number of congressmen are plaintively insisting to federal investigators that the favors they accepted from South Korean businessmen Tongstun Park had no influence upon their official conduct.

The Mandel jury, like the public in general, cut through all the legalistic argle-bargle with devastating common sense. "You never get something for nothing in this world," one juror observed after the last guilty verdict was read in court. "It's a fact that every time somebody gives you something, you have to ask what they want in return."

Every politician in the country should be required to keep a framed copy of that juror's statement on his desk at all times.

WASHINGTON — The House of Representatives, it turns out, has been united on more legislative measures so far this year than one would have suspected.

Rep. James Lloyd (D-Calif.) notes that the House was unanimous in its approval of 18 bills, a feat of togetherness he considers astonishing. However, a closer look suggests that saying this is due to a love of unity may be as unlikely a reason as the fluoridated water in the members' dining room.

The fearless votes to which nobody objected included airline fare reduction for the elderly, housing benefits for disabled veterans, approval of a probe into the charges of Korean influence peddling, a rule to consider legislation to extend Indian claims, and extending the report time for a study on age discrimination.

But then the questions probably weren't all that brilliant either.

I did learn, however, that those gyrating hips on stage were no accident. He did kneebends before the show to stay loose.

Shoreham Eying Five Ordinances

The Shoreham village council has set a meeting Oct. 11 to consider five new village ordinances dealing with regulation of horses, park use, trespassing, unsafe buildings and traffic codes.

Village President John Helsley said the council agreed last night to consider the new ordinances at the Oct. 11 meeting. The meeting was set, he said, because the council will not be able to obtain a quorum for its regularly-scheduled monthly meeting Oct. 4.

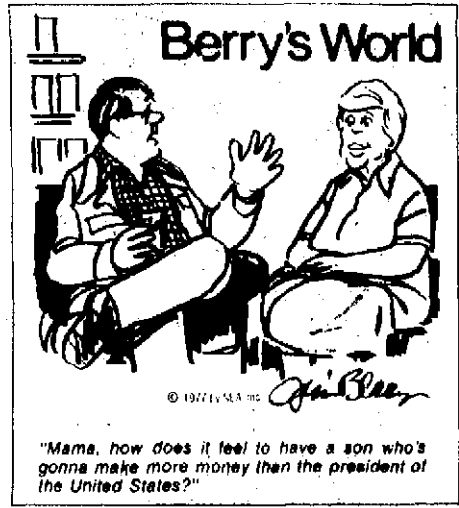

As currently proposed, the horse regulation ordinance would require licensing of anyone who keeps horses and would prohibit commercial horse stables, Helsley said. It would also limit the number of horses that could be kept per acre.

Helsley said the proposed trespass ordinance would control the use of horses, snowmobiles and motorcycles on public and private property. The unsafe building ordinance would define when a building is unsafe and should be torn down, he said.

The proposed ordinance for park use would make current park rules an ordinance. Current rules limit use to residents only. The traffic code ordinance would provide for the adoption of the uniform Michigan traffic code for village enforcement, he said.

The village council last night also approved a $425 contract with E & H Decorators of St. Joseph township to paint the exterior of the village hall, and a $450 contract with Ace Plumbing Co. of St. Joseph to hook up a sewer line to the village hall.

Dolly Voss Turning 40 In Big Way

If Dolly Voss of St. Joseph township is hoping her 40th birthday will come and go Friday without anyone noticing, she might as well forget it. Her husband, Richard, has seen to that.

He launched about 50 helium-filled balloons yesterday carrying cards offering a $25 savings bond to the person who calls Dolly Friday to wish her a happy birthday.

There was more than fun involved, though. Voss, is seeking revenge for a practical joke Dolly pulled when he turned 40 on July 6, 1976.

Dolly placed an ad that day in the classified section of The Herald-Palladium which announced in bold letters: "Dick Voss is 40 today!!" To add insult to injury, the ad ran under the "antiques" classification. It was signed by Dolly and their daughter Cherie.

Voss said he heard comments about that ad for the next three months.

He said Dolly only made one mistake. "She gave me a whole year to plan for her 40th birthday."

Helping Voss launch the balloons at Eaton Park in St. Joseph township yesterday were Cherie, 17, a senior at St. Joseph High school, and Phil Marshall of Lawrence, Dolly's brother.

Each balloon carried a card that said, "Dolly Voss of St. Joseph, Michigan, will reach the halfway point to her 80th birthday on Sept. 8, 1977. A $25 savings bond will be awarded to the person who calls the longest distance to wish her a happy birthday. Phone: (616) 429-0423. Best results will be obtained after 3 p.m. Thank you in advance for helping to make this a memorable birthday."

The Voss family lives at 2918 Boynton Heights road. Voss is a partner in the Totke Real Estate firm, 5061 Cleveland avenue, Stevensville.

Two Sodus Transfer Suits United

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Berrien Circuit Judge Chester J. Byrnes yesterday granted a motion consolidating two suits from Concerned Parents and Taxpayers of Sodus challenging a state board of education decision which put the Sodus area back in the Benton Harbor school district.

But the judge reserved a ruling on the group's request to order the state board to reopen a hearing so new evidence can be presented. Byrnes gave attorneys representing the Sodus group and state board of education until Sept. 19 to submit further briefs on the question.

The state board, after first granting Sodus permission to transfer to Eau Claire, had another hearing and rescinded the permission. The Sodus group claims the decision to disallow the transfer was invalid.

One suit in circuit court, which was consolidated with another, deals with whether the state board had a right to hold the rehearing. The other contends that even if the board had the right to hold the rehearing, the board failed to comply with required procedures, making it invalid.

Byrnes earlier had stayed the effect of the second decision by the state board, meaning, in effect, that the Sodus area (on paper at least) is still in the Eau Claire district. Students, however, attend Benton Harbor schools.

The Sodus area was cited in a recent ruling by U.S. District Judge Noel Fox, who ruled the Benton Harbor district was guilty of purposeful acts to further segregation. Fox's opinion said the Benton Harbor school board's decision in 1973 not to oppose the Sodus transfer had the ultimate goal of dismantling the Benton Harbor district into separate black and white districts.

SJ Township Will Move To New Home Sept. 24

St. Joseph township will move its business offices from Napier avenue in Fairplain to the new township hall on Washington avenue Saturday, Sept. 24, township Manager Isadore DiMaggio said last night.

"Things might not be done, but so be it," said Supervisor Orval Benson, referring to delays in completion of the hall. The move will take place regardless, he said.

DiMaggio said contractor Pete Roe, of Holland and Roe Builders, St. Joseph, promised yesterday that the building would be ready Sept. 23. It was scheduled to have been finished April 1, under the construction contract.

Also at last night's township board meeting, Benson received permission to sell the hall on Napier avenue and the lot it's on for $38,000. Benson said he'd disclose the name of a person who has made a $38,000 bid for the building only after a purchase agreement has been signed. Total cost of the new hall is about $300,000.

Benson said that while the board earlier rejected as "too low" bids of $36,000 and $16,000 to buy the old building, the $38,000 offer has been withdrawn. With the exception of standing partitions, all of the furniture in the old hall will be moved to the new hall.

The board voted to award an $8,994 contract for landscaping to Hunziker Nursery, Niles, and an $1,847 contract for drapes at 21 windows in the new hall to Sears, Benton Harbor. DiMaggio said Hunziker was not low bidder but offered the best plan for the money. Sears was low.

By a 5-1 vote, the board recommended granting a beer and wine license for the Zantigo Mexican-American restaurant on Niles road. The license would be granted by the Michigan Liquor Control commission.

Township Treasurer Robert H. DeVries, Sr., voted against the license. He said he doesn't believe licenses should be given to neighboring establishments (the Plaza Inn, beside Zantigo, now has a license). And DeVries said he is opposed to a sole individual. In this case St. Joseph Atty. Richard W. Insley, having a part in two businesses with liquor licenses, he said Insley is part owner of Zantigo and Plaza Inn.

Also, DeVries said, because

CREATIVE FOODS EXPANDING PLANT Benton Firm Seeks Tax Break

Creative Foods Corp., manufacturer of snacks, owned and operated by ERIC Buckholtz, has launched a $404,000 expansion project at its plant at 1470 East Empire avenue, Benton township.

Details were reported last night in the Benton township board of trustees, along with a request for a tax break under the Michigan Plant Rehabilitation and Industrial Districts Act of 1974. The request was made by Charles Schrenk, Berrien county economic development director.

The board scheduled a public hearing Tuesday, Sept. 20, before deciding whether to approve an industrial facilities exemption district for the firm. If approved, a second hearing on issuing a certificate would be held later.

Final approval would permit the firm to pay only 50 per cent of the total property tax on the additional valuation for 12 years.

The purpose of the act is to provide additional jobs through tax exemptions that encourage firms to expand, Schrenk said. Creative Foods Corp. has 25 employees and intends to add 12 to 15 more.

Creative Foods President Buckholtz contacted after the meeting by phone said a 10,000 square-foot addition is under construction which will increase the plant to 30,000 square feet.

The plant manufactures garlic, onion and bacon-flavored chips. Buckholtz said they're similar to potato chips but are made with a bread base. The firm's market is nationwide with brand names of "Elite's" and "Buck's," according to Buckholtz.

Buckholtz said the chips are sold in retail stores and restaurants and also through other outlets, including Hickory Farms, Devonshire, Swiss Colony Cheese, and Bedford Farms.

Creative Foods was at one time based in Chicago. Buckholtz said he acquired the firm with a partner seven years ago and has been sole owner the past two years.

Buckholtz formerly owned a chain of five bakeries.

The board in related business voted to approve any tax breaks under the act that Benton Harbor may grant in two firms in the township. These are Triax Tube Co., M-138, planning to occupy part of the former Benton Harbor Malleable Industries plant; and Saluta Food Corp., which plans to transfer six employees from its Red Arrow highway plant to the firm's new corporate headquarters at 302 West Main street, Benton Harbor.

Schrenk said the Hagar township board voted similar approval for Saluta, which formerly maintained its corporate headquarters at Riverside. Schrenk said such approval is necessary, before the government unit to which a business is being moved can grant a tax break under the act.

Treasurer Ken Malkin said the board's votes showed cooperation between government units. Malkin said while some firms and jobs move from Benton Harbor to Benton township and vice versa, a look at local property taxes reminds that both the city and township are in the Benton Harbor school district.

In other business, the township board renewed indefinitely a 1-mill property tax levy to help meet payments of water revenue bonds. The 1-mill tax was reinstated a year ago for one year.

The township levied a debt retirement tax of up to 2 mills from the start of the bond payments in 1968 to 1973, when it was dropped because of large surplus. Supervisor Cathryn Sirk last year said the surplus declined because of continuing extension of the water system in the township.

The 30-year bonds run to 1998, but township Controller Eldon Piontek said the 1-mill tax may not have to be applied that long. Piontek said it depends on how much revenue is received from water extension.

The township installs water lines and purchases water from Benton Harbor. The township then resells the water. The township keeps one-third of the resale income, and Benton Harbor receives two-thirds.

In another bonding matter, the board voted to pay off new 119 sanitary sewer bonds for $1,000 each. The due date is April 1, 1978. Piontek said under township ordinance, 50 per cent of the sewage fund must be used for early retirement of the bonds.

The board heard a report from George S. Jones, regional manager of Benton Harbor-Benton township Cable Management Co., who said cable television hookups to homes will begin Thursday in both the city and township. Jones said an open house by invitation will be held at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the firm office, 300 West Empire, near Riverside drive, St. Joseph township.

Jones said his firm now has a total of 150 to 200 applications for cable television installations. He said there originally will be 12 channels, with one showing family-type movies three nights a week.

The board also: —Extended to the police and fire chiefs sick leave and retirement plan benefits available to their department employees covered by contract. The chiefs last month were granted permission by the board to form their own bargaining unit.

—Extended a traffic control ordinance dealing with loitering and reckless driving in Fairplain Plaza and Belcot parking lots to lots at Jewel Food store and Osco Drug Store.

—Approved a $1,700 loan for operating to the Benton Harbor-Benton township senior citizens' center. The loan is to be repaid with Community Development funds when they arrive later this month or in October.

Gleiss Chosen As Benton Attorney

Henry W. Gleiss, a partner in the St. Joseph law firm of Glensk, Gleiss, Henderson and Bittner, last night was named Benton township attorney by a unanimous vote of the board of trustees.

He replaces Thomas N. Robinson Jr., who resigned the post last month, citing increased practice load.

Gleiss and Robinson are both Democrats, and the township board is all Democratic.

Supervisor Cathryn Sirk recommended Gleiss to the board. After the meeting, Mrs. Sirk said she asked for resumes from six area attorneys. Mrs. Sirk said her choice narrowed to Gleiss after a meeting with the township board's executive committee, comprised of Clerk Larry Trail, Treasurer Ken Malkin and Mrs. Sirk.

Gleiss, 48, is a past president of the Berrien county Bar association. A graduate of the University of Michigan law school, he has practiced in the Twin Cities area for 20 years.

Gleiss said this is his first post as a township attorney. He said he represents other agencies, however. He listed the Benton Harbor-St. Joseph Joint Sewage Treatment board, Lake Michigan Shoreline Water and Sewage Treatment authority, and Northwest Berrien Landfill authority.

Gleiss and his wife, Jean, reside at 1224 Miami road, Fairplain. They have two sons, Kent, a senior, and Keith, a junior, at Albion college.

Theft Is Charged

COLOMA — A 14-year-old Watershet township juvenile has been petitioned to juvenile authorities on charges of larceny over $100 and possession of stolen property.

Coloma township police reported the juvenile was charged in connection with the theft of a $200 go-kart stolen from Michael Hutchins, 13, of 7200 Helen street, Coloma, Sept. 1.

According to police, the go-kart was last seen in the yard of the Hutchins residence Aug. 31. The missing go-kart was recovered by police.

Girls Pick Pocket Of 'Mose' Kleinfeld

Mose Kleinfeld told Benton township police his wallet was stolen by two girls who picked it from his back pocket and ran.

Kleinfeld, 70, a familiar figure as a Herald-Palladium carrier, reported the theft at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday. Patrolman Tom Street said Kleinfeld told him the wallet contained a savings account book and personal papers, but no cash.

Kleinfeld said his pocket was picked as he was walking on Bureau drive, south of Britain avenue.

Street said he was on patrol near the House of David when Kleinfeld flagged him down. The officer said he searched the area but found no trace of the girls — one described as about 35 and the other younger.

Kleinfeld lives on Downing drive in the township.

Flaugh Nudges BH On Insurance Bids

Former Benton Harbor City Commissioner F. Joseph Flaugh last night requested that the city ask for bids on insurance coverage and complained that his agency was not considered when the city recently renewed its liability coverage.

"When it comes to spending city tax money, I think commissioners should consider city residents first," said Flaugh. "I don't want the business on sentiment."

Flaugh, who lives in the city and has his office at Fairplain Plaza, served on the commission for more than 20 years and was prohibited by law from conducting business with the city until he resigned his commission seat on Jan. 26, 1976.

City Manager Melvin Farmer Jr. said the city signed a binder to renew its liability insurance with the John DeVries agency of St. Joseph because the liability coverage was difficult to obtain and because the DeVries agency had worked with the city to obtain it at a "reasonable" rate.

Farmer also said the cost of the insurance would not have changed if the city had chosen Flaugh's agency because both firms would handle coverage through the same carrier, Hartford Insurance company.

In other action, the commission voted to approve the first step of a request by Saluta Foods Corp. for a property tax exemption and set a public hearing Sept. 19 on the second and final step of the request.

Saluta Foods is applying for a 50 per cent property tax reduction from the city for $370,000 worth of improvements the pizza firm plans to make at its new corporate headquarters at 330 West Main street.

The commission last night approved an industrial district designation for the new corporate headquarters. The final step will come Sept. 19 when commissioners consider granting Saluta an industrial facilities tax exemption.

The commission also voted last night to change the time of next Monday's city commission meeting because commissioners will be attending the

Easing Transition To Middle School

EAST LANSING — Lots of love and understanding should be the main ingredients for parents trying to ease their youngster's transition from elementary to middle school, advises an authority on the middle school at Michigan State University.

The middle school age, 11 to 14, when youngsters are no longer children but are not yet adolescents, can be frustrating for both youngsters and parents, says Dr. Louis Romano, professor of administration and higher education at MSU. It behooves parents, he says, to have knowledge of these changes and what they mean.

At this stage, maturity varies greatly. For example, in a group of 20 sixth grade girls, there are likely to be two at the adolescent stage, eight preadolescent — which is the norm — and 10 at the child stage.

"So don't be surprised if the girl is chasing the boy, because it's likely he doesn't yet know what is going on."

There are similar variances in intellectual development as well, Romano points out, and it is not unusual to find a drop in academic performance at this stage.

At the middle school age, youngsters want to try different things — to explore, Romano observes. That is why all good middle schools have an exploratory program, where the youngsters can get wide exposure to many activities.

How can parents learn to cope with their youngsters at this period? "Hopefully," says Romano, "the school system provides study sessions where parents, teachers and the school psychologist can discuss these growth changes."

Also, parents may want to check out some books from the library. Excellent books, particularly those which can help parents deal with the youngsters growing awareness of sex, are available.

"Kids will want information on sex," Romano explains. "Parents should be able to discuss it with them in an unemotional manner." But he warns that parents should not be disturbed if their youngsters don't come to them for the answers.

"There truly is love and respect for the parents. With compassion and understanding, the communication block will erode," counsels Romano.

"Know when the 'boy and girl' interest is present, but don't push it," warns the MSU educator.

Romano, who helped introduce the middle school concept to Chicago and establish the Michigan Association of Middle School Educators, points out that the middle school is unique. It is neither an elementary nor a high school.

Middle schools are different from the old "junior high" concept introduced early in the century to provide education beyond grade school, some vocational training and an introduction to secondary education for those few students who could afford to go on to high school.

Michigan has long supported the middle school concept, says Romano, and is second only to Texas in the number of middle schools.

Nationwide, the trend is for the middle school to serve grades six through eight. Unlike the old, junior high concept, grade nine is now part of the high school.

The middle school concept, Romano explains, is an attempt to devise an educational program to suit the growth characteristics for this unique age.

The middle school, says Romano, should have a specially designed building — not "the old high school." There is no need for extensive gymnasium, laboratory or science facilities, he points out.

Middle school academic programs, he says, should include the basic skills and provide a well balanced program in social studies, science, math, English, physical education and music.

Also, a unified arts program (industrial arts, home economics and art) should round out the curriculum.

Teachers working in teams is the most desirable teaching strategy, Romano believes.

In recent years, homemakers as well as gardeners have been confused by the descriptions in seed catalogs of new varieties of tomatoes, according to Mary Search, Berrien County Extension Home Economist.

The tomatoes have been described as "non-acid," "free of usual acids," "most acid-free," etc. Such descriptions are usually based on taste which reflects the balance between sugar and acid rather than on measurement of acid content or pH. These descriptions have generated considerable concern as to whether the acidity of some tomato varieties might actually be low enough to require processing in a pressure canner.

In 1975, Mrs. Search says, the Agricultural Research Service, USDA, screened 38 varieties of tomatoes for the occurrence of low acid fruit. Data were reviewed on tomato acidity obtained from experiment stations in 23 states. This study revealed, first, that new varieties of tomatoes are similar in acid content to older varieties. Second, types of tomatoes which are commonly believed to be "low-acid" are, in fact, relatively high in acid. These included the cherry, patio, and light colored (yellow, orange and pink) tomatoes. All of these types of tomatoes are suitable for canning in a boiling-water bath.

Further studies conducted in 1976 demonstrated that Garden State, Ace, Ace 55 VF and Cal Ace tomatoes are undesirably low in acidity. Samples of these varieties contained individual tomatoes with pH values above 4.8 high enough to support the growth of Clostridium botulinum. All of these tomato varieties produce red fruit. Garden State is an old variety used very little now. The others — Ace, Ace 55 VF and Cal Ace — are listed in current seed catalogs but their popularity and home use are unknown. They are late season varieties so it is unlikely that at this time they have matured enough to be processed. None of these varieties is included in MSU Extension Bulletin E-700(a), "Home Vegetable Garden Variety Recommendations."

For canning, use only firm, ripe tomatoes. Do not use overripe tomatoes because tomatoes lose acidity as they mature. Do not use tomatoes picked from dead vines since they may also be low in acidity.

Finally, do not use tomatoes with soft spots or decayed areas, even if only a small area of the tomato is affected.

If you have Garden State, Ace, Ace 55 VF or Cal Ace tomatoes, it is preferable not to can them. If you are going to can one of these varieties, acidification is absolutely essential for a safe product. Use one-quarter teaspoon crystalline citric acid or one tablespoon bottled lemon juice per pint of tomatoes, Mrs. Search says.

For uniform distribution throughout the product, it is better to add it to the top of the jar than to the bottom. Vinegar is considerably less effective than citric acid or bottled lemon juice in lowering tomato pH. Fresh lemon juice should not be used instead of bottled lemon juice since its acidity may vary.

Experiments with both low acid and high acid tomatoes showed that the canned product is slightly more acidic if the tomatoes are processed with added salt (one-half teaspoon per pint) than without salt.

If you are canning other varieties of tomatoes including cherry, patio, yellow, orange or pink types, citric acid or bottled lemon juice may be added, if desired, as an extra measure of insurance. Use amounts given above. Add to the top of the jar.

If you do not know which variety of tomatoes you are canning, it would be best to use citric acid or bottled lemon juice in the amounts given above. Add to the top of the jar.

Mrs. Search also says, if you are concerned that tomatoes you have already canned without acidification could be a low acid variety, boil them for 10 minutes before testing. This would destroy any botulinus toxin that could be present.

To can tomatoes, using the hot pack, use only firm, ripe tomatoes. Wash and rinse them thoroughly to remove all garden soil. To loosen skins, dip into boiling water for about one-half minute, then dip quickly into cold water. Cut out stem ends and peel tomatoes. Leave small tomatoes whole; halve or quarter larger tomatoes. Bring to boil, stirring to keep tomatoes from sticking. Pack boiling-hot tomatoes into clean, hot glass jars to one-half inch of top. Add one-half teaspoon salt to pints, one teaspoon to quarts. If required or desired, add crystalline citric acid (one-quarter teaspoon to pints, one-half teaspoon to quarts) or bottled lemon juice (one tablespoon to pints, two tablespoons to quarts) to top of jars. Adjust jar lids.

Process in pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure, pint jars 10 minutes, quart jars 10 minutes. To minimize the chance of flat-sour spoilage, MSU food scientists recommend processing tomato juice in a pressure canner. There is no danger involved in processing tomato juice in a boiling-water bath according to USDA directions. However, there is a possibility of some product loss.

Or, process in pressure canner at five pounds pressure, pint jars 10 minutes, quart jars 10 minutes.

Mrs. Search says to note that flat-sour spoilage, which is caused by thermophilic (or "heat-loving") bacteria, is a common problem in canned tomatoes. This type of spoilage is not a health hazard, but it makes the tomatoes unpalatable. To minimize the chance of flat-sour spoilage, tomatoes should be washed well to remove soil which abounds in bacteria. Processing times for tomatoes recommended by MSU food scientists are longer than those given by the USDA, also to lessen the possibility of flat-sour spoilage.

To can tomato juice, use only firm, ripe tomatoes. Wash and rinse them thoroughly to remove all garden soil. Remove stem ends and cut into pieces. Simmer until softened, stirring often. Put through strainer. Add one teaspoon salt to each quart juice. Reheat at once just to boiling. Fill jars with boiling-hot juice to one-half inch of top. If required or desired, add crystalline citric acid (one-quarter teaspoon to pints, one-half teaspoon to quarts) or bottled lemon juice (one tablespoon to pints, two tablespoons to quarts) to top of jars. Adjust jar lids.

Process in pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure, pint jars 10 minutes, quart jars 10 minutes. To minimize the chance of flat-sour spoilage, MSU food scientists recommend processing tomato juice in a pressure canner. There is no danger involved in processing tomato juice in a boiling-water bath according to USDA directions. However, there is a possibility of some product loss.

LUNCHBOX TURNOVERS

Two cups enriched flour
One tablespoon baking powder
One teaspoon salt
One-half teaspoon cinnamon
One-fourth cup shortening
Three-fourths to one cup milk
Three-fourths cup peanut butter

One-half cup raisins
Confectioners' sugar glaze, optional

Stir together flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Blend in enough milk to make soft dough. Turn onto lightly floured surface and knead gently for 30 seconds. Roll dough to one-fourth-inch thickness. Cut into five-inch squares.

Mix together peanut butter and raisins. Place one rounded tablespoon of peanut butter mixture slightly to one side of the center of each square. Fold square in half to make triangle. Seal edges by flattening with fork prongs. Place on greased baking sheet and bake in preheated 450 degree oven 12 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Frost with confectioners' sugar glaze, if desired. Makes six to seven turnovers.

Note: If self-rising flour is used, omit baking powder and salt.

TRIPLE DECKER

Spread three slices of bread (any kind) with butter. Top the first slice with one slice of Swiss cheese and two slices New England brand sausage. Add second slice of bread and spread with cream cheese and orange marmalade. Add two slices of bologna and remaining slice of bread. Cut in half. This sandwich may be frozen.

DOG GONES

In bowl, combine two shredded carrots, one-fourth cup each of raisins, chopped peanuts, celery and mayonnaise. Place about two tablespoons of mixture on each slice of old-fashioned loaf or beer salami and roll. Serve in wicker bun. Filling is enough for eight sandwiches. The breadless sandwiches may be made the night before and refrigerated. Do not freeze.

CRUNCHY CUCUMBER AND SALAMI

Cut a hard roll in half and spread with butter. Top roll with two slices of cold salami and one-fourth cup cottage cheese seasoned with one-teaspoon horseradish. Add several thin slices of cucumber and a green pepper ring for a crunchy lunch-line treat. Do not freeze; can be made a day ahead and refrigerated.

Cookies, a favorite dessert, are often found in America's lunch box. The brown bag is one way to beat the rising cost of eating out, and, since the main course is often a rerun of yesterday's fare, cookies spark up interest in the portable lunch.

CINNAMON-NUT REFRIGERATOR COOKIES

One-half cup margarine
One-half cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
One-half cup dark corn syrup
One egg
One teaspoon vanilla
Two and one-half cups unsifted flour
One-half teaspoon baking soda
One-half teaspoon salt
One teaspoon ground cinnamon

In medium bowl, stir together flour, baking soda, salt and cinnamon; gradually add to margarine mixture, stirring until blended. Stir in nuts. Chill dough one hour. Shape into two rolls, about two inches thick. Wrap in waxed paper or plastic wrap and chill in freezer four hours or overnight in refrigerator.

Cut into one-eighth-inch slices with sharp knife. Place on greased baking sheet. Bake in 350 degree oven 10 to 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove immediately. Makes about six dozen.

DATE NUT SQUARES

One and one-third cups unsifted flour
One teaspoon baking powder
One-half teaspoon salt
Three eggs
One cup dark corn syrup
One-half cup corn oil
One-half teaspoon vanilla
One package (sixteen-ounce) pitted dates, finely chopped
One-half cup chopped nuts

Grease fifteen and one-half by ten and one-half by one-inch jelly roll pan. In small bowl, stir together flour, baking powder and salt.

In large bowl of electric mixer, beat eggs on high speed until thick and light colored. Add corn syrup, corn oil, vanilla, dates and nuts; beat on medium speed until well mixed. Stir in dry ingredients. Turn into prepared pan. Bake in 350 degree oven 25 to 30 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool cut into squares. If desired, dust with confectioners' sugar. Makes approximately 35 two by two-inch squares.

Note: Mixture may be baked in greased nine by nine by two-inch baking pan. Bake in 350 degree oven 45 to 50 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Makes approximately 25 (one and one-half by one and one-half-inch) squares.

When Cornish women make their famous pasties for the family in take along for lunch or snacks, they often mark the initials of members of the family in one corner for identification, a delightful personal touch.

These Lunchbox Pasties are up-dated versions of Cornish pasties created as a terrific lunchbox idea. Easy to make the night before, filling and nourishing, they are a welcome change from the usual sandwiches. The fillings are encased in packaged refrigerated crescent rolls or buttermilk biscuits, which are rolled slightly and formed into different shapes. For extra taste appeal, they are brushed with the bottled dressings and sprinkled with seeds before baking.

Suggested Fillings (See below)
Caraway, celery, poppy or sesame seeds

School Lunch Hints

Back to school means many children will be carrying their lunches. Many homemakers will be looking for new ideas and ways to keep their children "interested" in what comes out of the brown bag.

Marilyn Mook, Extension foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State University, says brown bag lunches don't always have to consist of a sandwich, apple and cookie.

When preparing the lunch, homemakers should think of the basic four food groups. First find out where the lunch will be kept before noon, and if refrigeration is available. You need to keep foods hot or cold. Insulated containers are great but remember, it is sometimes hard for the youngster to remember to bring them home again.

If you have a problem keeping foods cold while the child is waiting for lunch, try freezing some of the items ahead of time.

Sandwiches that should be refrigerated could be frozen and allowed to thaw during the time before lunch. Other items that can be successfully frozen and unfrozen before lunch are juices and milk. Applesauce or other fruits can be frozen, also. These frozen products act as "ice cubes" in keep other foods cold.

Insulated containers can be filled with meataroni salad, tuna salad, hot chili, or macaroni and cheese.

If your child desires a change, pack cheese and crackers or other finger foods.

You can dress-up a sandwich by using different breads. English muffins or corn bread. If your child likes lettuce, pack it in a separate container to keep it fresh and let the child add it to the sandwich.

Lunches should be fun, and if it looks good the child will look forward to what comes out of his brown bag every day.

More Variety For Brown Bag

Why are lunches from home so popular? Because each person can have just what he wants, with more variety than school cafeterias or neighborhood fast food restaurants offer.

"Brown Baggers" can have made-to-order lunches with just a little planning and advance preparation. Offered here are suggestions and ideas for your "Brown Bag Specials."

— Shave thin slices of meat or sausage and heap on sandwich bread. Thin slices are easy to chew and taste better. Combine ham and turkey or several kinds of sliced cold meats.

— Use a variety of breads: bagels, buns, loaves, English muffins, corn bread or hard rolls.

— Spread each slice of bread from edge to edge with butter or cream cheese. These spreads keep breads from drying out and fillings from soaking through. (Mayonnaise does not hold up as well and will separate when frozen.)

— Combine meat and vegetables or cheese and fruit to make interesting fillings. Experiment with different combinations. You don't know what is good until you try it.

— Pour hot soup in a wide mouth thermos. Pop in a lid and tightly cap. For lunch, put wiener in a bun and enjoy along with a thermos cup of hot soup.

— Heat hamburgers, ham and cheese or other favorites in office microwave or toaster oven.

— Make a week's supply of lunches and freeze. Remove from the freezer at breakfast and the sandwich will be just right for eating by lunch.

— Wrap lettuce, tomato and other vegetables separately. This way they will remain crisp. Add to sandwich just before eating.

— Make several kinds of sandwiches, then mix and match among family members.

— Create breadless sandwiches. Roll bologna slices with cheese, fill deli carrots with ham salad, make meat pops with celery sticks and luncheon meat.

— Pack a surprise in the lunch bag. Include a note, a game, a special snack. Make "brown bagging it" a special occasion.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Wanted: No-Run Stockings

Dear Ann Landers: Since your column is the world's bulletin board for gripes, both petty and grand, may I have my say?

What man would tolerate socks that had to be replaced every week or ten days? You would think an industry that can produce fabrics and flures for the moon could come up with a no-run stocking for women.

We like nylons. We feel undressed without them. But as long as women keep buying this inferior product the manufacturers will think it's what we want. Well, it's NOT what we want. We want some wear for our money.

Where does one start? Ann Landers? Ralph Nader? The Better Business Bureau? Perhaps since nylon is a petroleum byproduct and tons of it go into the weekly trash cans across America, we should write to our Congressmen. Or do we ask the Japanese to come up with something better? — Irked

Dear Irked: Haven't you heard of "planned obsolescence"? It's the simple technique of putting things together so they will fall apart and have to be replaced.

I assure you American fabric companies already know how to make run-resistant nylons for women, but why kill the goose that lays all those golden eggs?

Are you willing to go barelegged as a protest? I'm not. So stuck is stuck — and that's what we are.

ANN LANDERS

that's the problem that needs to be resolved.

Prestige?

Dear Ann: A recent letter sounds like my mother wrote it.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have a problem with my complexion but I am not an adolescent. I'm 28 and have three children.

The problem started about nine months ago after I had my third child. My husband had a vasectomy then. Until my pregnancy I had taken birth control pills.

My own doctor diagnosed it as acne and prescribed an antibiotic. After the pills ran out the problem resumed. I have two refills left but the cost is high. My face also itches.

I have a friend in the same boat. Her difficulty started also after her husband's vasectomy and the end of her birth control pills.

DEAR READER — Does a husband's vasectomy cause a wife to have acne? Yes. Well, indirectly.

Acne in women is related to the balance between the two female hormones, estrogen and progesterone. Women who have a little more estrogen are less likely to have acne. Your birth control pills contained enough estrogen to help prevent the acne. After your husband's vasectomy when you no longer needed the birth control pills your estrogen levels were lower and acne cropped out.

Some antibiotics help prevent acne because they eliminate small bacteria within the skin pore that acts on the fatty sebum to make it irritating to the skin. I am sending you the Health Letter number 8-2, Acne Can Be Treated. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to P.O. Box 1561, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y., 10019. Follow the information in it and it will help you control the problem.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Our daughter who is middle-aged has the habit of flipping the nipple of her breast between her thumb and forefinger. Sometimes one, then the other. She does this whether she is dressed or in her lounging clothes. She has normal sized breasts, perhaps a little smaller than

It contained her favorite word three times. "prestige."

She is always on my back because my friends have no "prestige." Dad's associates have no "prestige." Even our parish priest doesn't have it.

Mom knows Dad has a lady on the side. We guessed it because Mom and Dad have had separate bedrooms for two years. Mom thinks this is "prestige."

Their marriage is a farce but they stay together "for us kids." We wish they'd split. What can we do? (P.S. What does prestige mean anyway?) — Us'ns

Dear Us: You can do nothing. It's between the two principals.

Prestige means "one's standing in the eyes of other people — reputation." Buy Mom a dictionary for Christmas or her birthday — whichever comes first.

One of the difficulties in writing a book for students is that the author must try to find interesting hands and interesting hands present interesting difficulties.

Paul Cromelin uses today's hand to show the raise from one to six notrump. North has a balanced 17 points. If South has a minimum 16, the combined total is 33. If South has a maximum 18, the total is 35. Either way the hand belongs in six.

Six is a mighty good contract. If clubs break 3-2 there are no problems. If they break 4-1, a 3-3 diamond break will produce the 12th trick. If neither clubs or diamonds break, declarer can develop a squeeze if the same opponent must try to protect both suits.

The play is simple indeed provided that declarer starts proceedings with an unusual play. He must give away a club immediately.

The late Walter Wyman dubbed this play the submarine squeeze.

Once the club is ducked, and we wonder just what percentage of players will just lay down the ace and king, declarer just falls into the squeeze by cashing all high spades, hearts and clubs. On the last spade or heart East must chuck a diamond to keep his high club and the hand is over.

Erma Bombeck

With Zippers That Stick

One of the most personal experiences I've shared with readers over the past 13 years was the occasion of sending my last child to school.

Boy, how I had hated for that day. I was going to have all my stomach muscles back by lunch, go to the bathroom without locking the door, pull the shades and sing duets with Barbara Streisand, and burn my maternity clothes. (The statute of limitations had run out and I had won!)

But there was no exhilaration in my victory, watching "the baby" sit pathetically at the curb. I thought of the woman he was going to — Miss Chalkdust, of whatever. And I wrote "Miss Chalkdust, give him patience and gentleness. Please have a soft lap and a warm smile. I submit to your tender, loving care my son who is a little shy and a lot stubborn. Who can't cope yet with zippers that stick of buttons on sweaters that don't come out even. One who makes his 35 sideways and doesn't know B-O-Y-S from G-I-L-S on the door. I may see you for alienation of affection but for the moment, God bless you."

Those small, pathetic, scared children who are sitting out on the curbs this morning for the first time don't have their own column. If they did, they might confess that they didn't have breakfast this morning because they couldn't swallow. They didn't sleep well last night.

They're afraid. Afraid they'll get lost. Afraid they'll goof up. Afraid they'll look different. Afraid they'll be called upon. Afraid they won't find the straw for their milk. Afraid they'll lose their lunch money. Afraid they won't get to the restroom on time — or ever. Afraid someone will laugh at their name. Afraid they won't find a friend. Afraid the wind will blow their papers out of their hands. Afraid of you.

One of the most poignant insights into a child's venture into education comes from a book written by Albert Culham called "The Geranium On The Window Sill Just Died But Teacher You Went Right On." It deals with an insensitivity of the feelings of children and what they are going through. This is one of my favorites.

"I have a messy desk. I have milk money that rolls. I have a lazy pencil. A book that won't open, a mouth that whispers. I have a zipper that doesn't want to.

homework that won't work, and a hand that throws crayons.

I have a shirt that's out, slouches that won't tie. And sometimes I wet my pants — but never on purpose."

Miss Chalkdust . . . this is a day for all the love you have to give.

House Devils

Dear Ann Landers: Next year our parents will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary. They are very big on outward appearances — highly social. The world thinks they are so charming and refined. But the truth is they are a pair of House Devils. The never-ending carping at each other kept our family in constant turmoil. My sister and I left home as soon as it was legal to do so. Whenever we go to see our parents we can count on a ruined day. The fighting is incessant. The demands they make on each other, and on us, are terrible.

Now they are beginning to talk about the upcoming anniversary. They want a huge party. My sister and I don't see how we could give a party to celebrate such a phony relationship. May we hear from you? — Big Brother

Dear Brother: What do you want to hear from me? If you and your sister don't want to give your parents a party for their 50th wedding anniversary — don't do it. I suspect you have some guilt over this — and

Treaty Signing Tonight

By GEORGE GEDDA

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter and Panamanian head of government Omar Torrijos will sign the Panama Canal treaty tonight, celebrating the finale of a 15-year negotiation in a ceremony witnessed by 19 chiefs of state.

The historic moment also was to be televised to audiences in the United States and most of Latin America. Representatives of 27 nations were on hand for the signing.

The Organization of American States, host for the occasion, has been the scene of many anti-American confrontations in the past. Now it is the forum for a rare display of hemispheric unity.

The treaty has won much more acclaim in Latin America than it has in the U.S. Senate, which could render the festivities an empty exercise by failing to ratify the treaty by the requisite two-thirds majority.

U.S. officials believe Senate defeat of the treaty would trigger guerrilla warfare and mob violence in the Canal Zone.

The treaty calls for phasing out U.S. control over the canal by the year 2000. Panama then would assume full operational control with the United States reserving the permanent right to intervene militarily against any threat to the canal.

But many Americans retain a strong emotional attachment to the canal and wonder whether Panama, with a long record of political instability, could be trusted to run it.

Carter has been holding separate meetings with the visiting dignitaries, taking advantage of their presence to push for his favorite foreign policy themes: human rights, nuclear nonproliferation and cutbacks in weapons purchases.

After an hour-long meeting with Torrijos Tuesday, Carter met separately with presidents Alfonso Lopez of Colombia, Augusto Pinochet of Chile, Francisco Morales of Peru, Alfredo Stroessner of Paraguay and Vice President Adalberto Pereira dos Santos of Brazil.

The marathon round of meetings will conclude Thursday.

Carter was to act as host at a White House dinner Wednesday for the visiting heads of government and Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance was to do the same at the State Department for visiting foreign ministers.

COULTER TRAIL OPENS: Jesse Coulter of Ulica, Mich., left, went on trial Tuesday in Cincinnati, Ohio, in connection with last February's 15-hour hostage-holding siege at a home for unwed mothers in Cincinnati. Coulter, 42, is talking with his attorney, Eugene Smith, who changed Coulter's plea from "not guilty" to "not guilty by reason of insanity." (AP Wirephoto)

Governors Cool To Energy Plan

By DON McLEOD
AP Political Writer

DETROIT (AP) — President Carter expects some help for his embattled welfare reforms from the nation's governors opening their annual meeting here today, but he may be in trouble on his energy package.

An Associated Press survey, with about half the governors responding, found unanimous support for the administration's welfare program but strong dissent on energy.

The Midwestern Governors Conference, which met in Oklahoma last month, already has adopted resolutions calling for changes in the House-passed energy bill, and the battle is sure to be carried to the full governors conference here.

"The energy bill passed by the House simply falls short of addressing the total energy issue," Gov. David Boren of Oklahoma said in response to the AP survey.

"I feel it is a stop-gap, non-permanent solution," said Gov. David Pryor of Arkansas.

"The House-passed version does have some good conservation measures," Boren said, "but totally misses the mark on the supply side."

Boren's comment was typical of governors from energy producing states who demand incentives for increased production as preferable to primary reliance on conservation.

Others calling for more emphasis on production and incentives for development included Govs. James Rhodes of Ohio, Robert Ray of Iowa, Pryor of Arkansas and Robert Bennett of Kansas.

Bennett said the lack of incentives for exploration "tends to worsen the energy situation rather than improve it."

Other concerns expressed by the governors included —Fear that gasoline conservation will undercut an important source of tax dollars for the states without any federal compensation.

—Opposition to provisions in the House version of the bill which would expand federal controls over natural gas to interstate use.

—A corresponding demand that natural gas be freed of all federal regulation in order to spur production.

—A concern, particularly among western governors, for local economies and lifestyles dependent on automobile and truck transportation.

"The attempted federal intervention into regulation of utilities is intolerable," said Bennett, reflecting similar expressions by Govs. Hunt of North Carolina, Mike O'Callaghan of Nevada and Boren, Ray and Rhodes.

The Carter administration's welfare reform proposals would be warmly endorsed by its resolution prepared by a task force of governors and coming before the conference later this week.

Parole For Speck?

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — Convicted murderer Richard Speck is expected to appear today before the Illinois Parole and Pardon Board on his own behalf, officials said. "So far as I know he is going to argue on behalf of himself," a spokesman for the Parole and Pardon Board said Tuesday. The closed parole hearing will be the second for Speck, who first became eligible last year. That request was denied and a source close to the board said there again is little likelihood it will be approved this year. Speck is serving eight consecutive sentences of 99 to 150 years each for the murder of eight young nurses in Chicago in 1966. Under Illinois law, all prisoners automatically become eligible for parole review after serving 21 years, less time for good behavior. The current law also requires yearly parole review for those eligible, but a law to go into effect next October will allow for three-year continuances. Initially, Speck was sentenced to death in the electric chair but the sentence was canceled by the U.S. Supreme Court in 1971 and he was ordered resentenced.

WHALE HUNT IN DOUBT: Eskimo whale hunter Carl Ineville leans against whaling boat in Barrow, Alaska where he lives during the whaling season. Two Explosions Rock Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two explosions, one on the grounds of the White House Ellipse and another at the downtown office of the Soviet airline Aeroflot, shattered the pre-dawn quiet in Washington today.

A bomb planted at an alley entrance tore apart a wall in the Aeroflot building shortly after 2:30 a.m. Police said no one was injured.

About 20 minutes later, another explosion was heard. It took police more than an hour of intense searching to track it down to an area across the street and south of the White House.

Following that explosion, a security guard patrolling the White House grounds said, "We heard it, but we don't know where it is."

Sixty minutes later, following fruitless and frenzied searches of nearby office buildings, police found evidence of the explosion at a set of flower pots next to the Ellipse.

Ten police cars — their headlights carving a path of light into the darkness — were sent sweeping across the Ellipse, looking for evidence.

Police Inspector Raymond J. Hennick said several news organizations received calls from an organization claiming responsibility for the blasts. He said police were investigating the possibility of involvement by a "Cuban group," but he did not elaborate.

As one explosion sounded, and then the other, security was heavy at the White House.

The area was illuminated by security floodlights. A police helicopter hovered overhead. Security officers scurried into nearby government buildings, and police drove down alleys looking for a hint of the second explosion or the bombers.

The damage was to concrete flower pots on a triangle near the Ellipse gathering area where sightseers begin their tours of the White House and where the national Christmas tree is placed each December.

Kelley Raps Hickory Phone Cuts

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state attorney general says the Michigan Public Service Commission didn't go far enough last month when it ordered a cut in rates for customers of the tiny Hickory Telephone Co.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley has filed suit in Ingham County Circuit Court challenging the new rates. He also wants the court to order that customers be given refunds on phone bills already paid.

The PSC last month cut Hickory rates for basic one-party service from $16.35 a month to $13.25 a month. The rates are still the highest in the state.

The reduction followed a two-year rebellion by customers in the southwest Michigan hamlet of Hickory Corners. Many cancelled their phone service after rates were sharply hiked.

Kelley criticized the PSC for not ordering Hickory Telephone Co. to refund the $3.10 difference in rates for the time the higher rate was in effect.

He asked the court to declare the PSC was wrong in not ordering the refunds and to order the company to refund the money collected between Dec. 1, 1975, and Aug. 6, 1977.

He also is seeking a court order that the $13.25 rate is still too high.

"It was totally unreasonable for the PSC not to order the money refunded," Kelley said. He said each customer would receive $68.31 if the refunds were ordered.

Kelley argued in his suit that the PSC allowed the telephone company too high a rate of depreciation and the commission used too small a customer base when determining the rates.

Instead of the 886 customers the PSC based its decision on, he said, Hickory has testified that it serves 1,100 people.

No date for initial court action was set on the case.

Students Complain

DETROIT (AP) — Student government leaders are urging the Wayne County Community College board of trustees to settle a 25-day-old strike they contend is cheating them out of an education.

Students have complained they have been the victims of overloaded classes, a shortage of teachers and understaffed bookstores since the walkout of administrative, technical and clerical workers began Aug. 12.

The employees are represented by two unions — the Professional and Administrative Association (PAA) and United Auto Workers Local 1786. The strike was called after four months of contract talks broke down.

The strikers include computer operators, and full registration for 16,000 students was handled by hand.

Ethel Waters Buried Tuesday

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — Friends paid final tributes to singer-actress Ethel Waters at a private burial service while her gospel song "His Eye Is On the Sparrow" played quietly in the background.

More than 200 persons, including singer Pearl Bailey, listened as Miss Waters was eulogized on Tuesday by the Rev. Dr. Grady Wilson of the Billy Graham Crusade.

BENEFICIARIES SOARING: This chart based on information from Social Security Administration projects number of beneficiaries per hundred workers. Democratic Women To Meet CASSOPOLIS — The Cass county Democratic Women's organization will hold its monthly meeting Monday, Sept. 12, at the county courthouse here. Speaking at the 7 p.m. meeting will be Clarence Finlay of Niles on the topic "Off-Year Organizational Work."

By EDMOND L. BRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans at some future time may have to work beyond age 65 to qualify for full Social Security benefits, if some serious students of the system have their way.

The mere mention of this possibility recently provoked an uproar, even though there is no pending legislation and no proposal by President Carter's administration for such a change.

Congress is now working on a more pressing problem: how to keep the system's reserves from running out in about five years. There is no real prospect that Congress will permit such an outcome, which would mean cutting off or reducing benefits.

Actual drafting of legislation to renege Social Security is scheduled to begin in a House subcommittee Sept. 12. However, while that subcommittee and the corresponding Senate panel were conducting hearings on Carter's proposals to provide Social Security funds, they received testimony on a wide variety of future threats and present inconsistencies in the huge system that collects taxes from more than nine out of ten U.S. workers and their employers and pays benefits to 33.3 million persons. A major concern is the aging trend of the population. By early in the next century there may be one retired person to every two active workers carrying the tax burden of the system — instead of the present ratio of one retired person to every three workers.

Other problems Congress was for government workers. Little public attention had been given to the possibility of raising the standard retirement age until Commerce Secretary Annita M. Kreps mentioned it, as a personal concern, in an interview.

Chairman Claude Pepper, D-Fla., of the House Committee on Aging, fired off a letter saying worked and paid the payroll tax. When she retires, she receives either the benefit earned by her contributions or half the amount of her husband's benefit, whichever is greater, but not both. Accordingly, in most cases, she is no better off than if she had never worked and never paid the payroll tax; since a nonworking wife is entitled to half the amount of a husband's benefit when they both retire.

This and other provisions relating to women reflect 1930's views that a standard family consisted of a working husband and a nonworking wife caring for children.

But the committees heard testimony that this description now fits only 16 per cent of American families; that recent statistics show 54 per cent of all working-age women are in the labor force, including 44 per cent of married women and 29 per cent of women with children under six.

Supreme Court decisions during the past year force some change. The law provided that a wife was automatically a dependent, but a husband was not entitled to corresponding benefits based on a working wife's earnings unless it were proved he actually depended on her economically. The court held this distinction unconstitutional.

Second Of Two-Part Series

told it will have to face sooner or later included:

—Eliminating discrimination against women.

—The perennial demand that the retired not have their benefits reduced because of money earned from a job.

—The advisability of drawing a clearer line between needs that should be met by Social Security and by welfare systems, and financing each accordingly.

—Deciding how much of a worker's income should be replaced by Social Security and how much should be left to company and individual pension plans, and how government could encourage these.

—The possibility of merging Social Security with other public retirement programs, such as the Civil Service system he was shocked and urging Mrs. Kreps to "withdraw your proposal."

She replied she had made no proposal, the administration was considering none and so there was nothing to withdraw.

Some non-governmental witnesses did make such proposals to the committees. A typical one was to add one year to the standard retirement age in 1985 and two more years at five-year intervals, bringing the age to 68.

Persons still would be able to retire at 65, but with a reduced benefit, just as they now may retire at 62, but with a 20 per cent reduction.

A long-standing complaint about the treatment of women under Social Security stems from its provisions affecting a dependent spouse — usually the wife — who nevertheless has

Coloma Annexation Requested

COLOMA — A request to release just over nine acres of land located in Coloma township for annexation to Coloma city was referred to the township's planning commission last night by the township board.

Under consideration are two parcels of land, one containing 7.8 acres and the second, 1.14 acres, off Ryno road east of the existing Coloma city limits.

Mrs. Doris M. Adams, owner of the larger tract, and Mrs. Jessie Murdock, representing KCP Properties, of Lansing, appeared before the board to make the request.

The Lansing firm proposes to build an $840,000 apartment development on the 7.8 acres.

The smaller tract of land, owned by William Dale McReynolds, is located adjacent to the larger parcel of land.

Supervisor Rodney Krieger Jr., said he felt no decision on the request could be made last night as it would be unfair to both the city and the township.

Krieger questioned whether the township wants to release land from the township to the city, regardless of what's proposed.

"I feel the planning commission has been formed to determine the real estate goals of the township, and what ramifications annexation will have on the township, both now and in the future," said Krieger.

According to Krieger, the background study by the commission will help determine if the land will be released.

Krieger said the planning commission will discuss the request at its Sept. 26 meeting.

Trustee William Kennedy was hesitant to refer the request to the planning commission.

"We're getting this request because we (the township) can't provide water and sewer...but, there's nothing on the property and we (the board) have no guarantee anything will be built there in the future," said Kennedy.

Kennedy added the owners had no assurance in writing from the city it would extend city water and sewer to the site, and suggested such a commitment would be helpful in making a decision on the request.

Both Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Murdock appeared before the city commission Aug. 22, but the commission declined to take any action on the request until the township board was approached for releasing the land.

In other areas, the board approved sending proposed fire service agreements to both Hagar and Dainbridge township boards for ratification.

The agreements outline the areas in each which the Coloma fire department will serve and the charges.

According to Trustee Miss Nina Stewart, a member of the fire committee, the agreements previously did not pinpoint the exact service areas.

Under the proposed agreements, the two townships would be charged $1 per hour above the current hourly rate of $5.50 paid by the township for each fireman at a fire, plus $250 for a pumper and $100 for a second truck, if needed.

The board approved a request to hire additional staff personnel to assist the township auditor James Sullivan of St. Joseph in completing the township audits.

The board approved the appointment of Bernard Peterson to the Paw Paw Lake Regional Joint Sewage Disposal board, replacing Krieger on the board.

Action on a request to build an office area for township sanitation department personnel, by reducing the overall size of the township clerk's office was tabled until the board can review the proposal.

Krieger reported a survey, conducted by Richard Pearson, the township building inspector, indicated 387 new houses have been constructed in the township since 1970 resulting in an increase of population of 1,200 people.

Krieger indicated the increased population count would increase the township's federal revenue sharing funds if the township could undertake a census to verify the increase.

Maximum Sentence Levied

DETROIT (AP) — Vito "Billy Jack" Giacalone, reputed Detroit Mafia figure, may spend the next two years in federal prison and pay a $5,000 fine for the illegal possession of a gun, U.S. District Judge Charles W. Joiner imposed the maximum sentence Tuesday on Giacalone, who was convicted July 22 of violating the federal firearms law for keeping a gun in a secret, electronically controlled compartment in his car's dashboard. Giacalone, named in U.S. Senate testimony as a leader of the Mafia crime syndicate, is prohibited from carrying a weapon because he is a convicted felon. He still faces trial Sept. 26 on federal gambling charges.

Judge Hospitalized

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — U.S. District Judge R. James Harvey, 55, remains in good condition at Saginaw General Hospital, suffering from what officials say is internal bleeding. The 55-year-old judge was admitted to the hospital through the emergency room on Saturday. Aldes said Harvey, who has sat in the federal court at Bay City since 1974, had canceled all courtroom business through Thursday.

GALIEN TOWNSHIP MEETING Fire Call Complaint Aired

GALIEN — Russell Seyfred, a Weesaw township farmer, told the Galien township board last night he didn't think much of the centralized fire phone system used in the area.

Seyfred claimed that if the Galien fire department had been initially contacted instead of the Weesaw township department "I could have saved half of what I lost."

Fire at his farm on Cleveland avenue, five miles north of Galien, leveled a large storage building and destroyed a 2-ton truck, hay baler, elevator, combine, and 270 bushels of grain during the early morning hours of Aug. 23. Damage has been estimated at $30,000, he said.

Seyfred said when he reported the fire, the Weesaw township fire department, located in New Troy some 12 miles away, was first notified.

Under the centralized fire phone system, all calls go directly to the Berrien county sheriff's department in St. Joseph, where a dispatcher relays the fire call to the volunteer fire departments through phonon units in each fireman's home.

Seyfred said even though he resides in Weesaw township, Galien firemen could have been at the scene much faster. He said that when Weesaw firemen were at Glendora they spotted the fire, and asked assistance from Galien which responded.

Seyfred has requested that Weesaw township residents living south of Warren Woods road attend the Weesaw township meeting tonight at 7:30 to discuss the situation.

Russell Rubcock, Galien township clerk, said the township wants their firemen to respond to all fire calls when called. He added the township board would investigate the matter further and report back.

In other areas, the township board said it is considering making application for an extension of its CETA grant subject to a study of township costs.

If the board decides to apply, those hired under the program would be used to make repairs to the township hall.

Robert Lozmack, acting fire chief, has been appointed township building inspector, it was announced, and will be sworn in at the next township meeting.

Filmdom's Two Favorite Robots Coming To TV

Q. Any chance that robots R2-D2 and C-3PO and other characters from "Star Wars" will be turning up in any way, shape or form outside the sequels to this big movie? — D.W. Racine, Wis.

A. Twentieth Century-Fox is being overwhelmed with requests for appearances of these incredible characters. As a result, you'll be able to catch them all over your TV screen this fall. Besides a big special in Europe early next year, she's also planning a visit to New York soon to see daughter Yasmine Khan.

Q. Some new stars never get the publicity they deserve. Can you fill in some personal details about newcomer Marilyn Hassett? — E.O., Garden Grove, Calif.

A. Thanks to her fine portrayal of Jill Klumpp in "The Other Side of the Mountain," she is getting some of the biggest loads of fan mail at Universat. She's just finished the sequel to "Mountain," and then plans to do the film version of "The Bell Jar," once intended for Mia Farrow. None of this sounds too personal except when you realize that all three films are or will be directed by Larry Pierce, with whom Marilyn has been very close for two years now. Larry is the son of opera singer Jan Pierce, and the director who launched Ali MacGraw in "Goodbye, Columbus."

Q. Is it true Liv Ullmann was so disillusioned by her experience playing "Anna Christie" on Broadway she will give up stage performances in the U.S.? — R.S., Baltimore.

A. Liv got rave reviews but the show itself was mostly panned and the boxoffice receipts disappointing, though the limited engagement did get extended for several weeks. But to prove she loves stage work and American audiences, plus the top money and percentage of the box office gross she can now command, Liv promises she'll return next spring. It's a "musical version of 'I Remember Mama' in the role made famous by Mady Christians on stage, Irene Dunne in the movies, and Peggy Wood on TV.

Teng: Ford Vowed Break With Taiwan

PEKING (AP) — Chinese Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping says President Ford promised to break diplomatic relations with Taiwan if he was elected, but the Carter administration offered only to reduce the American embassy there to a liaison mission in exchange for full ties with Peking.

At a meeting Tuesday with 13 executives and directors of The Associated Press, Teng said efforts to normalize U.S.-Chinese relations suffered a setback during the visit of secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance.

He said American reports of progress resulting from the Vance trip were wrong although the talks were cordial and a useful exchange of views.

The vice premier said Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger during their visit to Peking in December 1975, pledged that if they remained in office they would resolve the Taiwan problem the same way the Japanese did — by breaking diplomatic relations with the Nationalists while maintaining non-government contacts including trade.

Teng said his discussions with Kissinger about Taiwan were based on the idea that eventually the United States would have to make the changes in relations. However, he said, Vance said both governments would have to make moves.

He said Vance proposed that the United States establish full diplomatic relations with China while reducing its embassy in Taiwan to a liaison mission. This would reverse the present situation; the United States has full relations with the Nationalist regime in Taiwan and only a liaison mission in Peking.

Teng said the proposal was unacceptable because it would mean continued diplomatic links between the United States and Taiwan.

American arms sales to Taiwan after some change in the diplomatic relationship did not come up when Vance was in Peking, Teng said. But he said Ford and Kissinger, in addition to promising to break relations with Taiwan, also agreed to Peking's demand for abrogation of the U.S.-Taiwan defense treaty and withdrawal of the 1,200 American troops still on the island.

There was no immediate comment from Ford or Kissinger; but a spokesman for the former president said he would issue a statement today.

A State Department spokesman in Washington reaffirmed the Carter administration's commitment to normalized relations but declined to discuss Vance's meetings with the Chinese leaders.

Teng said Vance told him the Carter administration would consider the Chinese view on Taiwan and there would be further talks. The vice premier said he agreed.

He reiterated his government's position that Taiwan is an internal Chinese problem. But he said that in finding a solution the Chinese would take into consideration the special conditions on Taiwan.

He said that if the United States did not interfere, the Chinese would not rule out the possibility of peacefully solving the Taiwan problem.

He did not elaborate on these points.

The 90-minute session with Teng's first interview since he returned to office in July. He also told them:

—Vance assured Chinese officials that the United States is still militarily superior to the Soviet Union. But the Chinese believe the Soviets are greatly superior in conventional arms and that the United States seems bent on appeasement.

PEOPLE

By Robin Adams Sloan

on the making of "Star Wars" with plenty of unused footage not in the movie, R2-D2 and C-3PO are guest stars of Bing Crosby's first TV special, now filming in London. Then R2-D2 and the C-3PO join Chewbacca and Darth Vader on the first Donny and Marie Osmond show of the new TV season. And this is just the beginning.

Q. How are Jean Simmons and husband Richard Brooks getting on these days? — L. A., Wheeling, West Va.

A. Busily. Jean has been toiling on the summer circuit in "A Little Night Music." Richard, the busy director, is working around the clock on the final details of his film "Waiting for Mr. Goodbar." They're so busy they've just put their California house up for sale. Asking price: a cool $1,400,000. Makes you wonder why they work so hard.

Q. Now that Rita Hayworth has weathered her recent troubles and is back in circulation again, does she have any plans to resume her screen career? — L.C., Wichita, Kan.

A. Yes. Rita, who looks sensational and is sticking religiously to her special diet, plans to begin filming "Circle"

Merit Cigarette Sets New Taste Standard.

Tests confirm low tar MERIT delivers flavor of higher tar cigarettes.

There is a way to get real taste from a cigarette without high tar.

Technology created it.

Taste tests proved it.

Smokers are confirming it. In fact, 75% of all MERIT smokers are former high tar cigarette smokers—the toughest taste critics of low tar smoking.

MERIT—the cigarette packed with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco—seems to be solving the smoker dilemma of having to choose between high tar or low taste.

Clicked Gun Puts Man In Prison

A Benton township man was sentenced yesterday in Berrien Circuit court to 8 to 10 years in prison for pointing a loaded shotgun at Berrien Sheriff's Det. George Vollrath last May.

Judge Chester J. Byrns imposed the sentence on John F. Landers, 51, of 174 Dewey avenue, who had pleaded no contest to assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder.

He was accused of pointing the shotgun at Vollrath May 2 on Dewey avenue. Vollrath at the time reported he heard a "click" when the gun was pointed at him, and a shotgun shell confiscated from the weapon had a dent in its primer.

The gun, however, did not fire, and Vollrath was not injured.

Landers then dropped the gun on command and was arrested without further incident.

Vollrath had been called to Dewey avenue on a complaint that a man with a shotgun was standing in the street.

Arson Suspect Will Face Trial

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON Staff Writer

Jeffrey Sunday, 20, pleaded innocent when arraigned yesterday in Berrien Circuit court on a charge of arson at the Hoover-Ugine plant near Bridgman July 23 while he was on duty as a Plunkerton security guard.

Sunday, of 311 North Mechanic street, Berrien Springs, was continued free on $5,000 bond by Judge Julian E. Hughes to await trial. Conviction on an arson charge carries a maximum sentence of 10 years imprisonment.

Sunday, a Lake Michigan college law enforcement student, was arrested by state police from the Benton Harbor post three weeks after the fire which caused millions in damage, although no figure has yet been released by company officials.

The fire was reported to the Lake township fire department by Sunday, according to police, and officers said he reported another nearby fire the month before. The blaze at the Hoover-Ugine plant is believed to have started among some foam car seat padding stored in the structure. Hoover-Ugine stopped production at the plant last year, and it has since been used as a warehouse.

Pair Deny Truck Wash Robbery

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON Staff Writer

James S. Townsend and James (Butch) Davis pleaded innocent when arraigned yesterday in Berrien Circuit court on two charges each of armed robbery at Ruby's Truck Wash near Sawyer July 26.

Townsend, 17, and Davis, 30, who both listed addresses of 635 Gestner, Benton township, were continued jailed by Judge Julian E. Hughes in lieu of $100,000 bond each.

They are charged with robbing Anthony Motyka, owner of Ruby's, of some $5,000 in cash, and taking a wallet from an employee, Michael Clark, both at gunpoint.

Previous accounts of the robbery indicated the wallet was taken from another employee, Phillip Naumann, 19, who was shut in the arm with a .22 caliber handgun during the robbery. Naumann has since recovered, and no charges have been filed in connection with the shooting.

A co-defendant, James Hudson, 19, has been bound over to circuit court in connection with the robbery, but the charge is to be dismissed, according to the prosecutor's office. In exchange for testimony against Townsend and Davis, according to Chief Assistant Prosecutor Jeffrey Long, Hudson will be allowed to plead guilty to a lesser charge in another armed robbery in Benton township.

According to Hudson's district court testimony, Townsend was holding the gun, and after the shot said it had slipped.

Townsend is currently on probation from circuit court for breaking into a Benton township home last year and stealing $20,000. He is also awaiting trial on an embezzlement charge and another charge of soliciting to past board for a fee in connection with another incident.

Davis presently faces federal court action on charges stemming from an alleged travelers check killing scheme, allegedly increasing the face amounts of the travelers checks.

Parolee Brothers Get New Terms

Two Buchanan brothers who were paroled from prison sentences for different offenses late last year, were sentenced to prison yesterday in Berrien Circuit court for attempted unarmed robbery.

Judge William S. White imposed identical 3 to 5-year prison terms on John A. Bradshaw, 21, and Cleavon R. Bradshaw, 24, both of 902 North Red Bud trail.

The judge said John Bradshaw was sentenced to prison in 1975 for attempted breaking and entering, and was paroled in December, 1976. Cleavon Bradshaw, White said, was sentenced to 7 to 15 years in prison in 1973, and was paroled last November.

White told the two that they got a break when the most recent charge, assault with intent to rob while armed, which carries a life maximum penalty, was reduced to attempted unarmed robbery, with a 5-year maximum. "I think you received a substantial break already," White noted, "the facts were sufficient to support the original charge."

Citing the previous prison terms, the judge said: "I don't know how many more breaks you expect from the criminal justice system. You haven't earned to live within the rules of society."

Judges Chester J. Byrns and Julian E. Hughes imposed concurrent prison terms on Charles E. Williams, 24, of 1011 Lavette street, Benton Harbor. Byrns sentenced him to 5 to 10 years in prison for breaking and entering the residence of Erma Evans, at 875 Lavette, on Nov. 18.

Hughes imposed a 2 to 4-year term for a probation violation — pleading guilty to the breaking and entering charge. Hughes in August, 1974, had sentenced Williams to five years probation for possession of heroin.

Byrns also sentenced Tyrone Price, 33, of 1911 Eastland avenue, Benton township, to four years probation for unarmed robbery of cash from Gordon Brant March 27 in Benton township. Price was ordered to spend six months in jail, and was assessed $400 fine and costs.

In other sentences by White: Reginald L. Pratt, Jr., 18, and Samuel Tillman, Jr., 19, both of Chicago, were both placed on two years probation for attempted breaking and entering and attempted receiving and concealing stolen property valued at more than $100, respectively. They were charged in connection with a burglary at the Radio Shack store in Niles on May 2. White ordered each defendant to make restitution of one-sixth of the value of goods stolen.

Delena G. Peppers, 35, of Eau Claire, was placed on two years probation for fourth degree criminal sexual conduct — aiding and abetting Gerald Peppers in having sexual contact with a teenage girl May 21 in Niles township. White also ordered Mrs. Peppers to spend the last 30 days of probation in jail, but said the term could be waived if her conduct was proper. Her husband is still awaiting sentencing on a similar charge.

In an arraignment before White, Patrick Collins Dodson, 31, of 46 South Whitaker street, New Buffalo, pleaded guilty to assault with a deadly weapon — a .22 caliber rifle — against Terry Martin June 26 in New Buffalo. Martin was shot in the shoulder.

Grants Accepted By SMC

DOWAGIAC — The Southwestern Michigan College board of trustees last night accepted federal and state education grants totaling $252,012.

Three of the grants were from the federal Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) department. The major one, for $203,780, covered funds for student grants and was similar to one received last school year.

The other two HEW grants were for nursing student loans and scholarships and for a resource library grant. The nursing grant amounted to $23,395, while the library supplement totaled $3,855.

A $20,982 grant for continuing the consumer education and family enrichment program was accepted from the state Education department.

In other areas, the board renewed an agreement with the Brandywine public schools for use of facilities and equipment in the Brandywine school district for community service programming by the college.

The board also increased the insurance, fringe benefit allowance for fulltime classified and administrative personnel to a maximum of $800 for the current fiscal year.

Other individual gifts accepted by the college last night included: Sundstrand Corp., Dowagiac, $2,400; General Telephone Co., $725; Mary J. Collins, Dowagiac, $500; Mr. and Mrs. John Nute, Dowagiac, $500; Foster W. Daugherty, Cassopolis, $100; and Mr. and Mrs. Graham Woodhouse, Dowagiac, $100.

Berrien Springs Accepts Big Grant

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Berrien Springs village council last night voted to accept a federal community development grant of $240,000. The grant for 1977-78 was approved in late August by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Projects to be funded by the grant include acquisition of substandard property, demolition of substandard buildings and relocation of owners and tenants, construction of sidewalks, and rehabilitation of homes.

The First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan, was named depository for the community development funds.

In connection with the CD grant, the council approved a training and employment policy, stating that local labor will be trained and hired for grant projects whenever feasible. The statement is requested by HUD of all recipients of funds.

In other business, the council authorized Clean Reitz, public works manager, to blacktop the intersection of Mars and Sylvester streets in front of the high school.

AMC Pacer Wagon.

Drive one to appreciate how unique it is.

One look tells you that the Pacer Wagon is unique and unusual. And the feature that makes it that way is its great width. (Never before has there been such a wide compact wagon on such a short wheel base.) But we didn't make the Pacer Wagon wide just to look different. We did it to give you a unique blend of mid-size room, ride and handling. And, to appreciate that, you have to drive one. You have to sit behind the wheel to really feel the comfort of Pacer Wagon's wide passenger compartment. You have to zip it through city traffic to experience the maneuverability afforded by its short wheel base. And you have to cruise on the highway to enjoy the great stability and taut handling proved by its wide track and rack and pinion steering.

Room, ride and comfort aren't the only reasons Pacer Wagon is a great car to drive. It's loaded with other niceties that make it a pleasure to own. Like an oversized passenger door for easy ins and outs; panoramic visibility; a wide rear hatch for easy access to the flat load floor; and a fold-down rear seat that gives you extra loading space. Pacer Wagon is also backed by AMC's exclusive Buyer Protection Plan, the only full warranty that covers everything on your car (except tires) for 12 months/12,000 miles. Pine Grove OKs Census For Liquor License Bid GOBLES — The Pine Grove township board last night approved a request by the owner of a local bowling alley to seek a census of the township which could lead to his receiving a liquor license.

John Brown, owner of the Pine Grove bowling alley, told trustees that he would pay for the estimated $2,000 cost of the census, which would be conducted by the state, but requires a township request to be done.

Last month, township officials said that in order to have two Class C liquor licenses, the township under state law must have 2,251 residents. The Timber Ridge ski resort now holds one license.

Township population according to the 1970 census was 1,835.

In other areas, the board reaffirmed its stand that township zoning regulations require that in order to erect a mobile home, a property owner must have a 30-acre site. In the past several months, the board has received a number of requests for variances of the regulation.

The board also announced that it will fill two vacancies on the zoning board at its Oct. 4 meeting, and anyone interested should contact township officials.

It was also announced that four CETA employees will be in the township starting Sept. 12 to assist in the completion of tax assessment cards. Their duties will include property description and location work.

Keeler Panel To Meet With Sheriff Stump

KEELER — In response to complaints about law enforcement in the Sister Lakes area, John Gillesby, Keeler township supervisor, last night named a committee to meet with Richard Stump, Van Buren county sheriff.

Gillesby appointed four members of the five-member group during last night's meeting of the township board. Named were board member Carl Davis and Sister Lakes residents Paul Pantaleo, William Redding and Mrs. Fred Marks.

A fifth member of the committee, to be another township board member, will be named later.

The committee hopes to raise the possibility of beefed up police patrols in the area when meeting with the sheriff.

Some 40 people attended the meeting, with Pantaleo, Redding and Mrs. Marks all speaking out about law enforcement problems in the Sister Lakes area. Pantaleo told the board a gang of teenage boys created disturbances in the area early Sunday morning, and again that afternoon. Members of the audience raised several questions, including whether volunteers could be used to police the area; if a curfew could be declared; and to contact Stump with complaints.

Gillesby responded that the township now pays an average of $75 per day for police patrols in the township by sheriff's deputies for four nights a week. He said the township could not afford further patrols unless there was a tax boost.

Mrs. Marks claimed that in 1972, there were 36 county sheriff's deputies and there are currently 19. During the same period, crime has increased 40 per cent in the Sister Lakes area, she added.

In other areas, Gillesby said he would contact the Van Buren county road commission to fill in holes in roads in the Pitcher subdivision at Sister Lakes. Robert Schultz and Sweeney Laguna, residents of the subdivision, voiced complaints about the holes.

The board named John Roosevelt as a new member and chairman of the township planning commission. He replaces Richard Johnson, whose term on the commission expired this year. Reappointed to three-year terms on the planning unit were Pat Daly and Lucille Thumons.

Boy, Woman Are Bitten By Dogs

A 10-year-old Benton township boy and a 63-year-old Watervliet township woman were bitten by dogs in separate incidents reported to Twin Cities area police Tuesday.

According to Benton township police, Lionel Casnave, of 1395 Ogden avenue, was bitten by a large Doberman Pinscher while playing on the 1300 block of Monroe street. Officers said the boy was treated for a wound on his knee and released from Mercy hospital after the 8:30 p.m. incident.

Patrolman Roger Spencer indicated he searched the area but was unable to find the dog or identify its owner. The complaint will be turned over to the county dog warden, he said.

Gertrude Snyder, of Box 98, Shady lane, Watervliet township, told Berrien sheriff's officers she was bitten by a dog on the 400 block of Shady road Tuesday evening. Deputy Ab-bott Taylor said.

According to Taylor, the dog was reported owned by John Curtis, 485 Shady road, Watervliet township, who told officers he would keep the animal confined 10 days to watch for signs of rabies.

Due In 2 Weeks

BUCHANAN — It may be up to two weeks before a ruling is made on the cause of death Monday of a St. Joseph man who was a patient at a nursing home here, Dr. David Speers, deputy Berrien county medical examiner, said yesterday.

Speers said he had ordered further tests through the state crime lab in Holland following an autopsy he performed yesterday on Christopher Burda, 26. Results of the tests might not be ready for two weeks and no ruling will be made until they are available, Speers said.

Buchanan police reported that Burda, a patient at the Heritage Home nursing home, North Red 13rd trail, was found dead in his room by nursing home employees at 11:30 p.m. Monday. Police said Burda was an epileptic and he may have suffered a seizure that caused his death.

Dowagiac Water, Sewer Rate Boosts Are At Hand

DOWAGIAC — Substantial increases in water and sewer use fees projected by city officials in May can be expected in the near future following city council action last night.

The council acted on a new sewer ordinance that will hike rates by eight to 15 per cent for residential users and 15 to 40 per cent for industrial users, according to Henry Graper Jr., city manager.

The new water ordinance which will hike rates by an estimated 39 per cent across the board, was moved and seconded for adoption last night. As required by law, the motion will not be acted on until the council's Sept. 19 meeting.

The new water rates, when approved, would become effective Oct. 1, Graper said. The new sewer rates will be effective as soon as the city's $1 million sewer treatment plant expansion construction is completed sometime between January and March, 1978.

Graper, who in May forewarned of anticipated water-sewer hikes, said the increases are needed to operate both systems in the black by resembling a child's connect-the-dots puzzle with many of the numbers missing. It listed nearly two dozen House and Senate members who had accepted Park's money, often in the form of campaign contributions but it said nothing about whether many of them did favors for Park. Others were said to have assisted Park, but there was no record that they took money from him.

For example, former House Speaker John McCormack supported a congressional visit to South Korea in 1969, the indictment said. In the only reference to McCormack, it was part of the conspiracy that Park and Hanna tried to interest members of Congress in visiting the country, the indictment said.

Rep. John McFall, D-Calif., received $1,000 from Park in 1972 and another $3,000 in 1974, the indictment said. And in 1971 and 1973, Park drafted letters for McFall to send to President Park.

Former Rep. Edwin Edwards, now the governor of Louisiana, was listed as receiving $20,000 from Park.

Park gave Rep. John Brademas, D-Ind., a $500 campaign contribution in October 1970, and a $2,950 contribution in September 1974, and picked up the $1,700 tab for a Brademas fund-raising party in May, 1973, the indictment said.

Former Rep. Thomas Foley, D-Wash., received a $500 campaign contribution from Park in 1971.

Park furnished "pro-Korea" statements to Rep. Albert Johnson, R-Pa., and Rep. Walter Flowers, D-Ala., for them to submit to a House subcommittee which was investigating alleged human rights violations by the Park regime in mid-1974, the indictment said.

Johnson was listed as receiving $1,000 from Park a few months later.

These other present and former House members were listed as alleged recipients of 1970 campaign contributions from Park: Morris Udall, D-Ariz., $300; William Ayres, R-Ohio; Thomas Kleppe, R-N.D.; Ross Adair, R-Ind.; Lawrence Hogan, R-Md.; Melvin Price, D-Ill.; K. de la Garza, D-Tex.; Peter Frelinghuysen, R-N.J.; Spark Matsunaga, D-Hawaii; Chester Mize, R-Kan.; John Murphy, D-N.Y., and Nick Galifianakis, D-N.C., $500 each; William Broumfield, R-Mich., $1,000 and Frank Thompson, D-N.C., $1,000.

Others on the list are Philip B. McMartin, a defeated congressional candidate who allegedly received $1,000; former Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., $500, and Sen. Harry Byrd, Ind.-Va., $500.

Park contributed $3,000 to D.C. Citizens for Montoya which was supporting the 1970 campaign of then Sen. Joseph Montoya, D-N.M., the indictment said.

Former Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, was listed as receiving $3,000 from Park in April 1972.

Park gave Hanna more than $100,000 during the period of the alleged conspiracy, the indictment said, but a portion of this apparently was distributed to other members of Congress.

meeting increased costs of electrical power to operate the utilities.

The hikes are also needed to meet mandates of the federal Environmental Protection Agency which has supplied the bulk of funds for the sewer plant expansion. Graper said the new expanded sewer plant will cost $60,000 more per year to operate than the present facility.

Graper said an average family of four currently using around 13,000 gallons of water per month could expect to pay between $7.50 and $8 per month for water. The present cost for that family is between $6 and $6.50, he said. The same family can also expect its sewer bill to jump from $6.50 to $8, according to Graper.

Residential water charges under the new ordinance begin with a minimum of $2.25 per month for a 3/4-inch meter and increase with the meter's size.

The first 10,000 gallons of water will cost residential users seven cents per 100 gallons with diminishing rates for increased usage.

Commercial and industrial users will pay 10 cents per 100 gallons for the first 10,000

DRIVER TRAPPED IN WRECKAGE: Rescue workers begin efforts to free driver of empty bus struck by train near Lawrence yesterday afternoon. Driver, identified by Lawrence police, as Charles Merchant, 26, of 404 West James street, Lawrence, received cuts to back and hands and was reported in satisfactory condition at Lake View Community hospital, Paw Paw. Police said Merchant, mechanic for

Van Buren county road commission, was driving county-owned bus from storage area to road commission garage near crossing in Lawrence when crash occurred. Merchant was trapped inside wreckage for 45 minutes. In photo at right Dr. Eui Dong Lee, Paw Paw (on ground) administrators aid to Merchant (not visible). Merchant was freed by Lawrence firemen. Police said bus was struck by five-car eastbound freight and shoved 153 feet along tracks. Lawrence Police Chief Dale Gribler said witnesses reported train blew warning as it approached crossing. He said bus driver may have not have seen train because of brush along tracks or bright sun. Gribler said Merchant told him he had stopped before starting to cross. (Staff photos) nounced the $2.77 million in funds for Berrien county would be split among Benton township, $1.195 million; Berrien county government, $1.187 million; and Niles township, $415,000.

"The EDA, however, recalculated the grants after it found out it had made a mistake in turning down Benton Harbor for a grant. The EDA had turned down Benton Harbor because it had assumed Lake Michigan College, which earlier was awarded a $5 million grant, was located in the city when it actually is in Benton township.

The commission voted to enter a letter of commendation in police Lt. John Latsch's personnel file after Chief Bartley Rose praised the officer.

Latsch spotted the car containing the two men, radiated for assistance, and then joined in taking the two into custody.

Rose said Latsch showed good judgment in not attempting to single-handedly arrest two men sought in connection with an armed holdup of a Party store at the Arco station, Napier avenue, Benton township.

"They were armed with a shotgun and a handgun in a residential area where someone nearby could have been hurt," said Rose of the two suspects. Rose said an estimated $170 was taken from the store and an employee in the early morning robbery.

In other areas, the commission voted to hold up payment of a $162 bill submitted by the Paw Paw Lake Joint Regional Sewer board for repairs of a water meter. Albert Steffens, a member of the city's sewer and water committee, said the meter is not reading properly.

Eight bids on the installation of water mains in the Lewiston subdivision and two bids on removal of an old water tank were referred to the sewer and water committee.

Referred to the city finance committee was an offer by Duane Townsend, Ordinance Systems, Oshkosh, to review and compile city zoning ordinances and the city charter at a cost of $3,176.

Mayor Arvid Frazier said he would contact the Paw Paw Lake Improvement board on a request to name city commission representatives to the board.

Charles Burruss of the police and safety committee reported the committee would hold an organizational meeting on Sept. 12, at 8 p.m., with volunteer citizen band operators to form a patrol unit in the city.

The commission voted to hire Joyce Melvin, Sutherland avenue, as a full time office clerk at $3.50 per hour.

Cruelty Suspect

A man accused of severely beating two children with a leather belt and metal buckle was arraigned in Berrien Fifth District court yesterday on two counts of cruelty to children.

Don (Donnie) L. Patton, 26, of 615 1/2 Whitcomb court, Benton Harbor, demanded a preliminary examination on both counts. He was released on $2,500 bond.

The victims of the alleged beatings were identified as Raymond Bettison, age 6, and Artrillius Bettison, 5; son and daughter of Vickie Bettison, 460 Foster avenue, Benton Harbor.

Vickie Bettison was described as Patton's girlfriend by Benton Harbor police.

Det. Bill Elliott said the beatings allegedly took place July 22, but the children still show bruises indicating they were whipped with a belt and metal buckle.

Evidence of the alleged beatings was first uncovered by the Berrien county Department of Social Services which turned its findings over to city police, Elliott said.

Conviction of child cruelty is punishable by a maximum of four years in prison.

Bloomingtondale Fills Vacancy

BLOOMINGTONDALE — Robert Remington was named to the Bloomingtondale school board last night to replace Mrs. Alta Kay Johnson.

Remington, a Base Line road farmer, was selected from a field of five candidates during the special school board meeting last night.

Other candidates were Jerry Larson, Bloomingtondale; Robert Bales and Lester Rawson, Grand Junction; and Lloyd Higgs, Pullman.

Remington received four of six votes cast in secret balloting. Higgs and Larson received one vote apiece.

Remington is a hog and grain farmer and a 1969 graduate of Bloomingtondale high school. He and his wife, Marilyn, have three school age children.

Mrs. Johnson, a former school board president, stepped down from the board at an Aug. 22 meeting, citing health reasons.

In other action, the board agreed to a request from the Bloomingtondale Education association to appoint a mediator in contract negotiations with the board. The board said it would continue to negotiate with teachers on a new contract. The main stumbling block in the talks has been teacher pay and benefits, the board said.

The board set an 8 p.m. public hearing on Sept. 28 at the high school on the proposed 1977-78 school operating budget. Tentative figures set estimated expenses at $1,980,543, and revenue at $1,986,325.

Dr. Donald Drago, superintendent, said he would check into complaints of overcrowding in kindergarten classes.

The board approved adoption of Michigan High School Athletic association rules and regulations for sports.

Support, with no financial obligation, was given to the annual alumni football game.

Cash Box Gone; One Man Grabbed

A cigar box containing $100 cash was reported stolen from Philip's Donut shop, 807 Broad street, early today, and a man in parole from prison was arrested 10 minutes later, St. Joseph police reported.

Patrolman John Nolan said Philip Springsteen, owner of Philip's, told officers he discovered the cash box missing at 12:55 a.m. after two men ran from the store and drove away. Nolan said a description of the car was broadcast, and Benton Harbor Sgt. Phillip Schneider arrested a man at 1:05 a.m. after stopping a car at Main street and Paw Paw avenue in Benton Harbor.

Dennis Guidry, 21, of 782 Territorial road, was booked at the county jail. Nolan said police would seek a warrant charging larceny in a building. Guidry was paroled last March after being sentenced in 1975 to 2 to 5 years for attempted armed robbery, according to the Berrien adult probation-parole office.

Nolan said a second man was being sought in connection with the theft at Philip's.

Missing Cash Tops $3,000

WATERVLIET — Over $3,000 in cash was reported missing yesterday from Bridges Chev-Olds, 542 North Main street, according to Watervliet police.

John Scholt, an employee of the firm, told police he saw two men running from the building about 7:20 a.m. yesterday, shortly after he opened an office safe and removed one of three cash boxes.

Police Lt. John Latsch said the two remaining boxes, containing over $3,000, were missing from the safe. Latsch said that it was believed $2,100 bills were included in the missing cash, and asked area merchants to be on the lookout for the large bills.

Bridges employees are to conduct an audit to determine the exact amount of money missing, police reported.

South Haven Gives Firm Tax Break

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — The South Haven city council last night approved awarding an industrial facilities tax exemption certificate for a $155,000 plant expansion project at the Getman Corp., 820 Dunkley avenue. The firm, which manufactures vehicles for the mining industry, plans to add a 60 foot by 80 foot addition to a cost of $93,000 and placing equipment valued at $42,000 in it. If ultimately approved by the state, the firm would receive a 12-year 50 per cent exemption in the property tax on the development.

In other matters, the council voted 9 to 1 to advertise for bids to demolish the old power plant on the lakefront. The plant has been idle since 1967 and is considered an eyesore by many citizens. Third ward alderman Matthew Goerg cast the only dissenting vote. In favor were Mayor Richard Lewis and Aldermen Norvan Books, Wilbur Ingraham, Joseph Seller, and Robert Warren. Alderman Harold Kozlik was absent. Councilmen expressed their concern over a delay in refunding to customers of the city's electric utility their share of a $341,000 rebate from the Indiana & Michigan Electric company.

The rebate is from a 1972 rate dispute which the city challenged to the federal power commission. Board of public works employees last week said it would take another three to six months to determine how much of a refund each customer is going to receive. First ward alderman Ingraham accused the board of "poor bookkeeping" in not being able to determine the refunds quicker. City Manager Paul Sharon revealed that the city has adopted a "get-tough" policy toward the owners of substandard housing, especially rental units. Sharon said code enforcement department employees are aggressively going after property owners who are slow in removing buildings that have been ordered demolished.

Council introduced an ordinance that would eliminate parking up to 48 hours at city parks. Councilmen believe the owners of recreation-type vehicles are using parks such as the city's boatlaunching ramps instead of going to camping facilities.

Council accepted several bids as follows: low $287 per month bid of Winkel's Communication of South Haven for maintenance of city's two-way radios; low $5,787 bid of William Fritz and Son of South Haven to repair plumbing and heating system at the fire station; $2,133 bid of Twitshell's Hardware of South Haven for lawn mower for cemetery.

The W. J. Holland Supply Co., of Holland, submitted a lower bid on the lawnmower, $2,100, but council took the Twitshell bid because the firm is located in South Haven.

The council tabled a recommendation from the city manager that it re-award the annual sidewalk construction contract because the lowest bidder was unable to obtain a performance bond. William Bessemer of South Haven had submitted the low bid, which based on last year's work would cost $10,900. The second lowest bid was from A.D.D. construction of South Haven for estimated $11,975. Council voted 4 to 2 to table. Opposed to the tabling were Seller and Ingraham. A year-end report for fiscal 1976 revealed the city overspent its budget by $35,000. The original budget totaled $1,262,315 while expenses totaled $1,297,315. Sharon said most of the extra expense came from the city's share of $10,702 for reconstruction of Indiana avenue council declared Sept. 4-10 as Fall Employment Week and authorized the Mothers of World War II to conduct their annual poinsettia sale on Sept. 21-24. Council joined the city of River Rouge in encouraging the state legislature to change the age eligibility for senior citizens to qualify for the homestead property tax credit from 65 to 62.

Alderman Warren repeated his appeal for the council to reconsider its position on the desirability of building additional housing for the elderly. Council rejected a proposal from a Kalamazoo developer to build a 100-unit apartment building for senior citizens because an additional 15 units of housing would have to be built for families in order to qualify for financing from the Michigan Housing Authority.

Warren said the needs of the elderly in the community far outweigh the possible negative effects of having additional family housing units in the city.

Warren called for a public hearing on the issue to allow the developer to present his case and to examine the needs of the senior citizens.

Buchanan Twp. Board Critic Ejected

BUCHANAN — Fred Hankins, a frequent and outspoken critic of the Buchanan township board, was ordered out of the township board meeting last night.

Township Supervisor Kenneth Jones ordered Township Constable Gail Weaver to escort Hankins from the meeting after a verbal clash over federal and state gun laws, a proposed township zoning ordinance and the township's assessor.

Some 30 people at the meeting watched as Hankins left without resistance, but under protest.

Jones this morning said the action was taken so the board could proceed with other business. He said Hankins kept speaking as he tried to move to other matters.

The verbal exchange between Hankins, 46, East River road, came after he announced last night that he had obtained a federal permit to carry a weapon. In August, a Berrien circuit court judge had refused a Hankins request that the supervisor be forced to sign an application for a concealed weapons permit for Hankins.

Debate was further fueled when the supervisor refused to read into the record of the minutes of the meeting an announcement by Hankins that the Level I certification of Township Assessor Ivan Price has been challenged at the state level through a petition by 40 township residents.

Said Jones: "I will read it (the petition) when I get ready and not until."

Hankins initiated in April his petition to have the Michigan Assessor's Board revoke Price's assessor certification.

John LaRose, executive secretary of the state board, said the board is scheduled to meet Monday to decide whether to hold a hearing on the revocation petition.

Price is a former township supervisor of 19 years who resigned the position in February, 1976, to accept a position of Berrien county drain commissioner. But two days after he accepted the county position, he resigned when a $13,865 lien was filed by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service. The lien was paid in May, 1976, and Price was hired as township assessor, at a salary of $4,800 yearly, in January of this year.

Hankins in his petition to the state board has alleged that Price made unfair property assessments.

In other areas last night, the board announced that the controversial township zoning ordinance that has been proposed will get another hearing, this one on Sept. 18, at 7 p.m., at a planning commission meeting. Some 100 township residents attended a July township planning commission hearing on the ordinance.

The township board voted to spend up to $38,500 for the improvement of Briceus School road, a three-quarter of a mile stretch between Andrew and Reed roads. The Berrien county road commission is to do the work, and subsequently accept responsibility for maintaining the road, township officials said.

Covert Board OKs Hiring 3 Teachers

COVERT — The Covert school board last night in special session approved hiring three high school teachers to replace those that resigned last month.

Hired by the board were Miss Becky A. Boros of East Lansing, girls' physical education; Robert Lynch Jr. of Bay City, English and journalism; and Alan Lee Barr Jr. of Frazier, mathematics.

Board members Carl Grigori and Jerry Foster voted against hiring Barr, saying a local woman who had applied for the position had more teaching experience. Voting in favor of Barr were Mrs. Alice Blair, Harold Bruckner and Donald Quinn. Absent were board members Bernard Lucas and Rev. L.C. Berry. Miss Boros and Lynch were hired with no dissenting votes cast.

School attorneys were checking this morning to see if three yes votes in Barr's case were considered a majority of the board, according to Supt. William Randall.

In some cases, state law has determined a majority of the board to be a majority of those elected whether present or not. If true on the teacher vote, a majority would be four and the vote would be invalid.

Also last night, the board went into a one hour and 45-minute executive session to discuss teacher contract negotiations.

Pawating Medics Protest Berrien General Expansion

NILES — The medical staff of Pawating hospital here has added its voice to a growing protest over plans to construct a new six-bed intensive care unit at Berrien General hospital in Berrien Center. In a resolution approved unanimously and signed by Dr. John E. Doolittle, chief of staff, the medical staff calls the Berrien General proposal "inadvisable and a poor allocation of scarce medical resources." It also endorses the stand taken earlier by the hospital's board of trustees and administration, which last month joined with Memorial hospital of St. Joseph and Mercy hospital of Benton Harbor to appeal preliminary approval of the Berrien General project.

Administrators of all three private hospitals said at that time that not enough study had been given to the proposal before it was approved by the regional health agency and that there already may be too many intensive care beds in this area. Berrien General is proposing to construct a new 3,270 square foot addition for six intensive care beds at a cost of $367,000 and to remodel the present sub-standard intensive care unit and three four-bed wards into private and semi-private rooms at a cost of around $200,000. The proposals were approved Aug. 24 by the Southwest Health Care Systems Agency in Kalamazoo and forwarded to the Michigan Department of public Health for final action.

Tests Due For Slaying Suspect

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Law Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — Carl Lee Johnson, the man accused of murdering Bangor Centennial Queen Terri Lynn Wilson, will undergo psychiatric testing to determine his competency to stand trial sometime later this year.

Although he turned down three defense motions yesterday relating to the tests, Van Buren Circuit Court Judge Meyer Warshawsky said he will order that tests be made as soon as he receives a motion for a competency hearing from defense

Atty. Drew Seaman of St. Joseph.

The motions asked that the court appoint a psychiatrist to examine Johnson, that a psychiatric examination be allowed, and that the psychiatrist be allowed to use a polygraph (lie-detector) on Johnson in conjunction with the tests.

Prosecutor Ward S. Hamlin Jr. said Judge Warshawsky denied the motions basically because he determined them to be unnecessary. Hamlin said that under court rules, following a motion for a competency hearing, referral for psychiatric testing is more or less automatic.

He said the judge did not feel it was necessary to appoint a specific psychiatrist because that would be handled at the Center for Forensic Psychiatry in Ypsilanti, where Johnson would be committed for testing. Similarly, Hamlin said that in relation to the polygraph, the judge said doctors could use any tests they felt necessary without a court order.

Hamlin said he has requested that any testing determine whether Johnson was legally sane at the time of the murder.

Johnson is scheduled to go on trial Dec. 6 on charges of first-degree murder and felony murder in connection with the death of Miss Wilson, who was reigning over Bangor's Centennial celebration at the time of her death July 4.

Police said her body, clad only in a knit top, was found stuffed in the trunk of a car she had been driving on 66th street near M-43, a short distance from her home.

According to an autopsy report she had been struck in the head about five times with a blunt instrument, and stabbed another 30 times in the back and neck. The pathologist, Dr. Daniel Galzer, also said she had been sexually assaulted at the time of her death.

The felony murder count charges that Johnson killed Miss Wilson during the perpetration or attempted perpetration of a rape.

During testimony at an earlier preliminary hearing, police said Johnson told them he had sexual intercourse with Miss Wilson, but that he denied killing her.

I-94 Workmen Hurt In Crash

Two workmen disassembling guard rails on an I-94 construction project were injured when a semi-truck crashed into the guard rail about 11:30 a.m. yesterday.

Listed in critical condition this morning at Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor, was Michael R. Golden, 20, of Baraga, Mich. A co-worker, Kenneth G. Dowling, 53, of Marshall, was reported in satisfactory condition at Memorial, St. Joseph.

State police at the Benton Harbor post said both men were part of a crew employed by the Snowden Construction Co., Escanaba.

Troopers said it had not been determined as of this morning whether the men were struck by the semi-truck, a pickup truck or by the guard rail, but an investigation is continuing.

The truck driver was identified as Terry Hammer, 27, of Leland, Ill. He told troopers an unidentified auto cut him off just before the accident. Hammer was not injured.

The accident occurred on Benton township just east of the St. Joseph river bridge. Traffic was impeded for more than two hours while the wreckage was cleaned up.

Tigers Likely Will Face Aerial Assault In Opener

Kalamazoo Central may fill the air with footballs Friday night in its non-league home opener against Benton Harbor.

"We plan to pass more," Central coach Jim Long says. "We may throw as many as 30 times a game."

Central finished with a 3-6 record a year ago and its opener against Benton Harbor probably set the tone for the entire season. The Tigers edged the Maroon Giants 8-2 on a 35-yard pass from Andrew Hurst to Charles Carter in the final four seconds.

Central went on to lose three of its first four games by a total of 11 points. Many of the key performers from last year are back as the Maroon Giants begin their first season as a member of the Big Eight.

"Our experience is basically in our backfield," Long says.

"Overall I see more experience in our offense."

Long sees quarterback Randy Ball as his team's strength. Ball, a 5-9, 185-pounder, completed 54 of 103 passes last year for 872 yards and the senior rushed for more than 400 additional yards.

"Randy doesn't have great speed, but he's a powerful runner," Long says. "He can throw the football real well and he can throw long. That's the key because we think that we have some kids this year that can go out and catch the bomb."

Ball's talented receivers include flanker Ken Ciocco (5-10, 155), tight end Dave Knapp (6-3, 185) and wide receivers Jim Eller (6-4, 165) and Toby Macon (6-3, 185).

Long is hopeful that running backs Kevin Ezell (6-0, 185) and Greg Bishop (6-2, 215) can supply the inside running game.

Most of Benton Harbor's key performers from last year's victory return, including Hurst. Also back in the backfield is Maverick Burton, who was the leading Tiger running with 53 yards in 11 carries in last year's game.

Joining Hurst and Burton will be Duane Tillman at fullback and either Gene Hines or Derrick Jackson at flanker, giving Benton Harbor blistering speed in the backfield. Burton runs the 40 in 4.3, with Hurst at 4.6, Tillman at 4.7 and Hines and Jackson at 4.8.

Benton Harbor coach Paul Bergan believes the game will be decided on defense. Last year the Tigers limited Central to just 108 yards and six first downs.

"I expect it to be a big defensive struggle," Bergan says. "The team that makes the fewest mistakes and doesn't give up the big play is going to win. The defense is going to have to carry our ballclub. Defense will be the thing which wins the game for us."

Long agrees with Bergan and is worried about Benton Harbor's speed.

"We have to cut down on their outside reaction with Hurst running the football and pitching to Burton," he says. "That's the number one thing. And we have to stop their passing attack. Hurst is a much improved passer over a year ago."

Kalamazoo Central holds the career edge over Benton Harbor 29-23 with seven ties. The Maroon Giants have lost just three of the last 18 meetings between the two.

Borg Bows Out Of U.S. Open

Injury Forces Pullout

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — A computer, in its infinite wisdom, spewed out the seedings at the U.S. Open Tennis Tournament, predicting that top-seeded Bjorn Borg of Sweden would meet No. 2 Jimmy Connors in the finals, a rematch of their grand, five-set thriller at Wimbledon earlier this summer.

The computer didn't know about the pectoral muscle. It didn't know about pain. So it certainly didn't expect Borg, the Wimbledon champ, to be sitting in his stool when the ball rang for the second game of his third set with Dick Stockton of Dallas on Tuesday.

And the computer never will understand that only the severest kind of pain to his injured muscle could make the 21-year-old Swede default his fourth-round match, robbing him of the chance to win the only major tournament that has eluded him.

"I'm very disappointed. I wanted to do really well this year, especially after coming so close (second) last year," said Borg after he defaulted his match to Stockton 3-6, 6-4, 1-0.

"This was the worst. It was much too painful to serve, and what can you do if you can't serve?"

So there will be no rematch with Connors, no new data for the computer in its effort to decide whether Borg or Connors is No. 1.

Connors downplayed Borg's default. "He's out of the tournament? Oh," he deadpanned. "Then he joked. 'I got one round farther than he did, maybe I'm No. 1 on the computer now.'"

He was certainly No. 1 on the court Tuesday night when he devastated Rostee Tanner, the No. 11 seed from Lookout Mountain, Tenn., 6-0, 6-2 in a match that took 85 minutes only because it takes time to change courts every odd game.

Connors and Stockton joined Manuel Orantes and Brian Gottfried Tuesday in advancing to the quarter-finals of the Open. Orantes, of Spain, the No. 5 seed who is playing marvelous tennis, easily handled 18-year-old John McEnroe of Douglaston, N.Y. 6-2, 6-3.

Stockton was to meet Harold Solomon of Silver Spring, Md., and Guillermo Vilas of Argentina was scheduled to play Ray Moore of South Africa in the quarter-finals today.

Five more women Tuesday moved into the quarter-finals, including top-seeded Chris Evert, who whipped Nancy Richey, San Angelo, Tex., 6-3, 6-0.

Miss Evert meets Billie Jean King, a four-time champion here and the No. 7 seed, tonight in a quarter-final match. Other women winners Thursday were Wendy Turnbull of Australia, Wimbledon champion Virginia Wade of England, Mima Jausovec of Yugoslavia and second-seeded Martina Navratilova, the Czech expatriate now making her home in Dallas.

In today's other women's quarter-final matches, phenomenal Tracy Austin, the 14-year-old reliever from Belling Hills, Calif., was matched against 32-year-old Betty Stove of the Netherlands.

BORG BACKS OUT: Sweden's Bjorn Borg, normally known as a stoic who never shows emotion, tosses his racket to the ground Tuesday during the rest period after the first game of the final set against Dick Stockton at the U.S. Open Tennis Championships. Moments later, the top-rated male player in the world walked over to Stockton and said: "I can't play anymore." Later at a news conference, Borg announced that a painful right shoulder injury forced him to withdraw from the Open. (AP Wirephoto)

Fisk Spurs Hot Boston

Cowens Cracks Five Hits In Royals' Victory

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Carlton Fisk has opened his stance and kept the Boston Red Sox close to the top in the American League East.

The Red Sox made it five victories in a row by handing the Toronto Blue Jays their 11th consecutive setback, 11-2. Fisk drove in seven runs with a first-inning grand slam that spoiled Mike Darr's major league debut and a three-run homer in the eighth off Pete Vuckovich.

"My problem was that I got used to standing close to the plate and had been successful in the past so I was too stubborn to change," explained Fisk, who had been in a recent slump. "But I was getting jammed with the closed stance, so now I've opened it up a bit."

Fisk gave the Red Sox a quick 4-0 lead after Rick Burleson singled, Fred Lynn walked and Jim Rice was hit by a pitch. It was Fisk's second career grand slam. Lynn later hit a solo homer while Fisk's three-run shot capped a five-run eighth inning.

Meanwhile, Kansas City's Al Cowens also had a big night with two singles, a double and a pair of two-run homers as the Royals crushed the Seattle Mariners 10-0.

Elsewhere, the New York Yankees downed the Cleveland Indians 8-3, the Baltimore Orioles whipped the Detroit Tigers 7-2, the Chicago White Sox slugged the Oakland A's 7-2 and the Minnesota Twins beat the Texas Rangers 7-4.

White Cowens was having his big night. Fred Patek and Amos Otis also homered as the Royals remained 3½ games ahead of the White Sox in the AL West. Paul Splittorff allowed two hits over the first six innings before giving way to Randy McGilberry, who made his major league debut. Mark Littell took over in the ninth and the trio combined to allow the Mariners just four hits as Kansas City won its seventh game in a row and 18th in the last 21.

Lou Piniella's tie-breaking solo homer in the sixth inning and a three-run shot by Reggie Jackson in the seventh were the key blows as the Yankees ended a brief two-game skid and remained 2½ games ahead of Boston. Piniella's homer off Dennis Eckersley gave the Yankees a 3-2 lead in the sixth.

Dave Goltz survived a shaky start — Texas scored three runs in the first inning — and allowed just one run and four hits over the final eight innings to notch his 17th victory in 25 decisions. Larry Hise and Lyman Bostock homered for Minnesota and the Twins battered ex-teammate Bert Blyleven for five runs in 3 2-3 innings.

SMC COACH: Diane Morea of Dowagiac, a Southwestern Michigan College physical education instructor, will coach the first women's Roadrunner basketball team in the upcoming season. She is also the school's track and field coach for women.

Berra Bat Still Making Noise

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Berra bat is still making a hit in the big leagues.

Dale Berra, hoping to emulate his famous father Yogi, upfield the family tradition Tuesday night with a run-scoring single in the 11th inning to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 5-4 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

"Yogi always did brag about the kid," said Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark after the Phillies' lead over Pittsburgh dropped to six games in the National League East.

The son of the New York Yankee Hall of Famer had been summoned from the minor leagues last month after second baseman Henne Stennett was injured. Berra began Tuesday night's game with two hits in 15 at-bats for a .133 average and had driven in one previous run. Berra was 9-for-4 in the game before his big hit.

Braves 12-2.

Mike Iyie's two-out, bases-lauded throwing error in the 10th inning allowed Bill Russell to score the winning run as Los Angeles defeated San Diego.

Art Howe drove in three runs and Joaquin Andujar notched a victory. In his first start since July 14 as Houston beat Cincinnati.

Rookie Steve Henderson drove in three runs with a pair of singles to power New York.

Willie McCovey, Darrell Evans and Gary Thomsen combined to drive in 10 runs, backing the five-hit pitching of Bob Knepper and leading San Francisco over Atlanta.

Knepper, 8-7, had a shutout until the seventh, when Vic Correll hit a sacrifice fly.

In other National League games, the Los Angeles Dodgers edged the San Diego Padres 3-2 in 10 innings; the Houston Astros turned back the Cincinnati Reds 6-3; the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Chicago Cubs 3-1; the New York Mets stopped the Montreal Expos 5-3 and the San Francisco Giants routed the Atlanta Braves 12-2.

Knapp's Return Success As Sox Bomb Oakland

OAKLAND (AP) — Wayne Nordhagen hit a two-run homer and Oscar Gamble and Henry Cruz added solo shots as the Chicago White Sox defeated the Oakland A's 7-2 Tuesday night.

Nordhagen's homer, only his third of the season, came off loser Vida Blue, 13-17, in the third inning following a single by Eric Soderholm. Gamble was a pinch hitter when he slammed his 28th homer off reliever Steve Dunning in the eighth.

Winner Chris Knapp, 10-8, had a shutout until the sixth when two walks and a single in Tony Armas loaded the bases and a walk to Bill North forced in the run. Chay Carroll took over and retired Willie Crawford to end the inning.

Mitchell Page, who had three hits to raise his average to .310, hit his 20th homer of the season for the other Oakland run in the seventh inning.

Cruz, just up from the minors, honored in the ninth. In Knapp's five and two-thirds innings, he gave up seven hits, one run, walked four and struck out seven. He started off the right foot as he struck out the side in the first inning. Knapp was sent down to Iowa, the Sox' Triple A farm team, on Aug. 8.

In other National League games, the Los Angeles Dodgers edged the San Diego Padres 3-2 in 10 innings; the Houston Astros turned back the Cincinnati Reds 6-3; the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Chicago Cubs 3-1; the New York Mets stopped the Montreal Expos 5-3 and the San Francisco Giants routed the Atlanta Braves 12-2.

Knapp, 8-7, had a shutout until the seventh, when Vic Correll hit a sacrifice fly.

Wilson To Start Purdue, Spartans Still Puzzle Rogers

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State coach Darryl Rogers appears as foggy over what to expect from his own team as what problems Purdue will present Saturday.

Not only are the Boilermakers a mystery going into the season opener at Spartan Stadium, but MSU's abilities and fortunes are anybody's guess.

Rogers spent nearly an hour Tuesday struggling off reporters' questions on whether his team is improved, what individual players might do and other demands that he peer into his crystal ball.

"Where we are I can't tell you until we play somebody, but we are definitely looking for improvement," he said, answering a question about his defense.

Probed about any skills that junior college transfer Leroy McGee might show at tailback, he commented: "Who knows until he plays?"

And asked how quarterback Ed Smith has improved since last year, he said straightfaced: "I think he has a better voice, better command of the audibles and snap count."

But if Rogers is waiting for evidence before commenting on his team's abilities, he has an excuse for being vague about Purdue. The Boilermakers will feature a new coach — Jim Young, formerly of Arizona — two quarterbacks who have never called a play, a defensive back at tailback and a new, pass-oriented offense.

"We're entering the game somewhat in the dark," Rogers said in an understatement. "We're very concerned and definitely worried."

Purdue will start senior Joe Metallic, formerly on special teams, at quarterback. He is backed up by freshman Mark Hermann, who may take over before the year is out.

Young has vowed to pass some 35 per cent of the time, which would be a drastic departure from recent Purdue attacks.

Rogers, meanwhile, had few surprises in his starting squads. Former basketball player Edgar Wilson of Dowagiac, playing his first and last year of football, has moved into a starting position at split end, replacing the injured Eugene Byrd.

The starting backfield will be Smith, the Big Ten's leading passer last year, fullback Jim Farley, and McGee, a junior transfer student from California.

Yacht's Financial Troubles 'Serious'

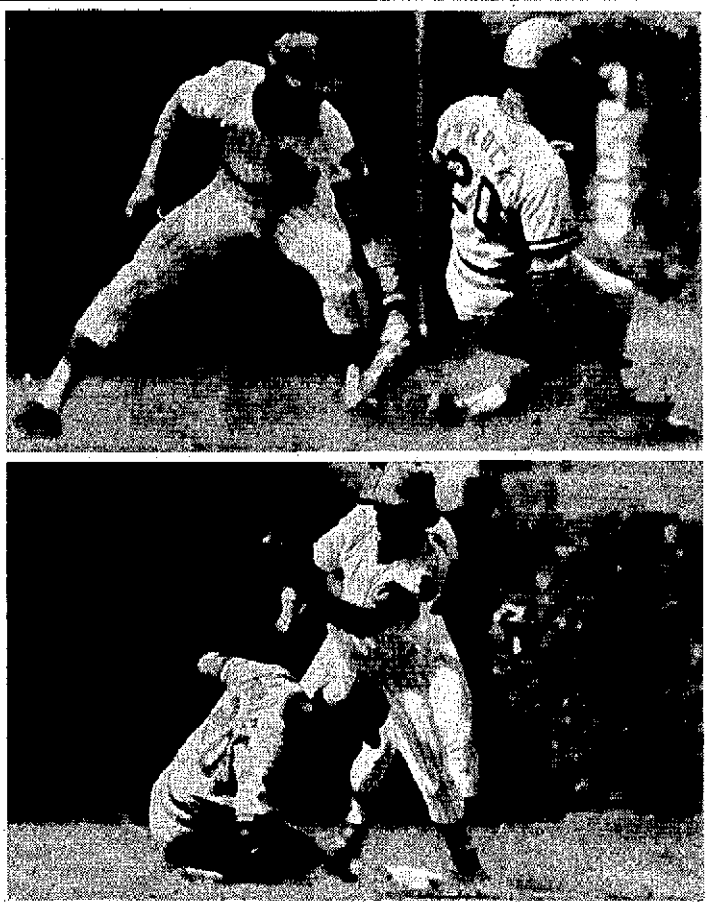

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The America's Cup challenge by the 12-meter yacht Australia is in "serious" financial troubles and backers are looking for another $220,000, according to a syndicate spokesman.

Spokesman Bob Hemery said Tuesday the pitch for additional funds started two or three days ago in telephone calls to the 150 companies in Western Australia.

Hemery said Australia was brought to Newport with a $1 million reserve fund. Half came from businessman Alan Bond and the rest from individual contributors.

To complete the campaign against defender Courageous, Hemery said the syndicate needs $100,000, plus an additional $120,000 to get the new aluminum-hulled yacht back to Perth.

One reason for the financial dilemma is that Australia has gone through more sails than expected, costing the team $60,000 above what had been budgeted.

ON THE LOOSE AGAIN: Lou Brock of the St. Louis Cardinals steals second base in the first inning (top) and seventh inning (bottom) during Tuesday's game against the Chicago Cubs in Chicago. Brock, who last week broke Ty Cobb's record of 892 stolen bases, claimed his 895th and 896th in the contest. St. Louis Tips Cubs

CHICAGO (AP) — Ted Simmons drove in two runs with a home run and a single and Lou Brock ripped three hits and stole two bases to lead Tom Underwood and the St. Louis Cardinals to a 3-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Brock, who last week broke Ty Cobb's record of 892 stolen bases, extended his mark to 896 by stealing second base in the first and seventh innings Tuesday.

Brock opened the game with a single, stole second, took third on a passed ball and scored on a single by Garry Templeton. One out later, Simmons cracked his 18th homer off relief ace Willie Hernandez, 7-8, who was making his first major league start.

Brock doubled in the third and was out trying to stretch it into a triple but the Cardinals still added a run when Templeton beat out a bunt single, went in second on an error, took third

Baseball America's Favorite Pastime Again

By WIL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

Hottdogs, peanuts, cold drinks and baseball.

The nation can relax. Kids are playing stickball again on the teeming streets of Harlem. One-eyed-cat is booming on the corner lots in Paducah, Ky. They're choosing up sides in Bangor, Maine. Baseball has regained its once threatened position as America's favorite pastime.

That's what we're being told by the national pollsters.

A national sports survey, tapping a cross section of the population, came up with the finding that baseball has edged past football as the most popular sport among fans.

It isn't all that decisive and is reminiscent of those TV election projections on TV with one per cent of the precincts heard from, but it's an interesting development. Some of the bloom has faded from football's boom of the 1960s, the survey reports, and baseball is showing gains on virtually every front.

The National Football League refused to panic. Its preseason attendance is up over last year, the NFL said, and, besides, wasn't this particular poll taken in July when baseball fever was at its hottest and nobody was thinking of blitzes and punts from girls?

The survey reported that when asked which sport they prefer, 61 per cent of those polled said baseball, an increase of five per cent over 1974. Football was down from 63 per cent to 60 per cent.

In fan interest, baseball has jumped 10 per cent in the heavily populated East, up to 65 per cent, while football has fallen from 56 to 51.

Baseball's greatest popularity is centered in big cities while football — on a declining scale, according to the survey — continues to hold a slight edge in the suburbs, among the young (38 in 29 years old) and the college-educated.

But baseball is eating away at even these bases.

What is behind this trend?

Opinions vary from the discrepancy in ticket prices to over-exposure of football on TV and the big free agent fuss in baseball which created a slew of new very rich and magnetic personalities, such as the Yankees' Reggie Jackson.

One point which long has been stressed by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn is that baseball remains the cheapest and most accessible commodity in big time professional sports.

Baltimore 'Sinks' Arroyo, Tigers

DETROIT (AP) — It was sink or swim with Fernando Arroyo. The Detroit Tigers sunk.

Arroyo was bombed for five runs in the second inning, two on a double by Dave Skaggs, and the Baltimore Orioles whipped the Tigers, 7-2, Tuesday night to stay alive in the American League East race.

Baltimore's Mike Flanagan scattered eight hits and went all the way for the 13th time, striking out nine to raise his record to 11-10. It's the first time he's been over .500. He was 2-8 in May.

Arroyo, 7-15, gave up 13 hits and went the distance. Tiger Manager Ralph Houk never had a relief pitcher warm up — even when Arroyo faced nine Orioles in the second inning and gave up six hits and a walk.

"If we'd have scored runs early I'd have taken some chances," Houk said. "... I wasn't going to make any moves in that second inning or I could have blown my staff for the rest of the week. Once you do that, things get rougher and madder."

Houk didn't want to waste his relievers in a Baltimore runaway, since the teams play a doubleheader tonight and a rain makeup Thursday. Detroit then plays a doubleheader Friday in Boston.

Jim Crawford, 7-5, and Ed Glynn, 1-1, are the Detroit probabilities for today's twi-

Eddies Heading Area Harriers

Edwardsburg will again be the cream of the crop among the area cross country teams.

The Eddies finished six of their top seven runners from last year's team which returned fifth in the state meet. Kevin Dycus, who won last year's Blossomland conference meet, is the lone runner missing from this season's Eddies.

But coach Don Bourdon believes the loss of Dycus may hurt Edwardsburg in the early part of the season.

"I believe we should be able to win the conference again," says Bourdon. "But we may struggle in the early going."

Heading the list of returnees are Dan Parsons and Mark Haines, who were all-league performers a year ago. Dan Hoover, a state qualifier and conference champ in the two mile, is back as well as Mark Grover and Dave Turner.

Ulrich Wiedenmann is the other member of last year's top seven returning, while Mark Rakowski is out for cross country for the first time. Rakowski placed in the mile in the conference meet last season as a freshman.

Edwardsburg has won the Blossomland and the Class C regional the past two years.

After the Eddies, the rest of the area is pretty balanced. Buchanan has the most experience back to contend with the Eddies. Top back runners John Dougherty and Eric Mollberg are back along with Mark Entenmann, Dave Lear and Mark Christie. Lakeshore may have the conference's best runner in Brad Kruogler, though he's only a sophomore.

River Valley was hit hard by graduation, but still returns junior Dave Zebell and Greg Schaffer. Coloma has junior Scott Harris back.

Seniors Bruce Goodwin, Mike Paul, John Dine and Mike High head the St. Joe contingent awaiting first-year coach Howard Kingsley.

Watervliet's Tim Lynch should have no trouble attaining number one status in the Red Arrow conference. Lynch finished second in the league meet and only Hartford's Dennis Frazier (fifth) is back among the league's top five finishers. Lynch also wound up 12th in the Class C regional meet and qualified for state.

nighter. They're scheduled to face Ross Grimsley, 12-7, and Scott McGregor, 2-3.

Baltimore is third in the AL East, four games behind leader New York, which crushed Cleveland, 8-3, Tuesday night. Runners Boston, 2½ behind, doled out Toronto, 11-2. Detroit is fourth, 17½ games behind the Yankees.

"We have to win three more games than the Yankees from this point on, that's all," said Orioles Manager Earl Weaver.

Asked about Flanagan's performance, Weaver said: "He's not turning into a hell of a pitcher. He has been a hell of a pitcher."

He said he knew Flanagan would do well, despite his early losses.

"You can't bring guys up and quit on them after eight or ten games," Weaver said. "That's one of my good points, staying with young kids. It always has been."

Flanagan, who admits to some control problems, didn't walk anyone. However, he threw one wild pitch to Jason Thompson in the fourth inning, allowing Rusty Staub, who had tripled, to score.

The Tigers' other run came on Mickey Stanley's leadoff homer in the seventh.

Eddie Murray opened the big Orioles second with a homer, his 21st. Andres Mora followed with an infield single and Doug DeCinces walked before Mark Belanger doubled in a run. Skaggs, who was 3-for-4, followed with his double, then Al Burnaby singled in a run.

Ken Singleton hit his 21st homer in the fifth inning, then the Orioles got their final run in the sixth when Skaggs singled and raced home on a double by Burnaby.

Albion, Hope MIAA Favorites; Alma Is Darkhorse

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association won't have to wait as long as it did last year to decide a champion.

Albion and Hope — both undefeated in MIAA action going into their showdown in the final game of 1977 — meet at the beginning of the conference schedule this year. Whichever team wins at Albion on Oct. 8 has the inside track to the championship.

Most of the conference coaches agree that these two teams are the best of the six-team league again. Albion was 9-0 last year and won the MIAA title with one of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's best Division III teams. Hope, the 1976 champion, won six of its last seven games.

Alma returns a strong defense and rates as the MIAA's darkhorse candidate.

As was Hope the year before, Albion was invited to play in post season Division III playoffs last year and, since the Britons had the division's top-ranked defense, probably would have done well.

But the MIAA had a rule prohibiting its teams from competing after the regular season. By a vote of the conference presidents this spring, that rule was rescinded and, should the MIAA champion be invited a third consecutive year, it can finally accept.

There is one coach in the conference, Chuck Cilibrise takes over at Olivet for Bob Friedlund, who resigned after one year at the MIAA's smallest school. Cilibrise, an Olivet graduate, faces the task of bringing the Comets back from a winless season.

ALBION

said there was some luck involved with Albion's undefeated season of a year ago. "We didn't lose a starter to injury," he said. "At this level of football there isn't a lot of depth — we were lucky."

Albion also was very good. The Britons will be hard pressed to match their 1976 defense that ranked first in Division III against scoring, first in total defense second in rushing defense. Having All-American defensive tackle Steve Spencer of Armada back for his senior year is a good start, though. Frank Carr, an all-MIAA linebacker, also returns on defense.

The offense lost four starters, including quarterback Steve Robb, the MIAA's Most Valuable Player. Sophomore Tom Carr of Royal Oak is his replacement.

Joranko doesn't believe in making cuts from his squad, but football is getting so popular at Albion that he has had to make emergency calls to sporting goods stores in Jackson for extra helmets.

HOPE
Ray Smith has the type of problem other coaches envy. The Hope College head coach has too many good running backs.

Fullback Mike Skelton of Crosswell, the MIAA leading rusher with 499 yards in five conference games, is back. But so is Bill Blaciere, the all-league fullback in 1976 who missed all of last year with a herniated disc. Smith would like to find room for Blaciere's 4.8 yards a carry career average.

Smith is worried about his receiving corps. David DeZwain, Hope's top receiver last year, graduated and Kevin Clark, who averaged almost 30 yards for each of his 13 receptions, underwent open heart surgery this summer and won't play. Clark also was the team's punter.

"Our defense started to jell last year," Smith said. "Six of our front seven were new. We averaged 490 yards offense for a couple of games and lost. That won't happen again."

ALMA
A young offensive line worries Coach Phil Brooks, but the rest of the lineup on offense shouldn't bother him. The league's best receiver, Stan Izkowski, with 36 receptions for 434 yards and five touchdowns in five league games, is back as is quarterback Ken Riehl, who led the league in pass completions.

All-MIAA defensive tackle Tim Jank heads a good defense. The preseason coaches poll picked Alma to finish third this year.

ADRIAN
Quarterback Paul Downs of

Livonia directed the best passing offense in the MIAA, but it wasn't enough to rescue the Bulldogs from a losing season, one that was particularly disappointing to Coach Tom Heckert. Heckert was looking forward to his first year at better than .500 when Adrian slipped back in 3-6 despite Downs' fine performance as a sophomore.

Adrian's rushing defense was partly the culprit. Adrian gave up more than 230 yards a game in five MIAA encounters. The league's worst rushing statistics also didn't help. However, junior fullback Brian Hoseth has the size — 6-foot-5, 220 pounds, to rectify that problem.

KALAMAZOO

Coach Ed Baker's forte is offense and the Hornets should be strong in that area again. Kevin Moody of Flushing (356 yards rushing in five MIAA games) has the potential to be one of the league's top backs.

The problem at Kalamazoo last year, however, was moving the ball without scoring. The Hornets scored only 55 points against MIAA opponents.

Defensive linemen Vic Zambardi, John Vertalka and Gerard Weston will try to shore up a defense weak against the run last season.

OLIVET
In his first season at trying to improve the Olivet football fortunes, Chuck Cilibrise doesn't expect quick results. That's good. With only eight seniors on the team and more lettermen last than returning, the Chargers might find it difficult leaving the MIAA cellar.

The hiring of Cilibrise is a step in the right direction, however. He has coached the MIAA for a number of years, is an Olivet graduate, knows the conference and, has good contacts to improve Olivet recruiting.

His best returning player is senior Jim Wheeler of Waterford, who is switching from defensive end to linebacker.

Barnes May Get Paroled Today

CRANSTON, R.I. (AP) — Marvin "Bad News" Barnes, imprisoned Detroit Pistons basketball star, is looking forward to some good news for a change.

After almost four months behind bars, Barnes comes up for parole today under a program for special inmates.

The 6-foot-8 forward began a one-year sentence at the Adult Correctional Institutions here May 16 for violating a probationary sentence imposed for attacking a Providence College teammate.

"Technically, Marvin would not have gone before the board this time," said Lillian G. McDaniel, Corrections Department spokeswoman. "He would have come up six months after serving 120 days."

"But he and Jimmy Gordon, who is going to graduate school, are going early," Mrs. McDaniel said Tuesday. "He and Gordon are thought to be unusual cases."

"The purpose of parole is to get them back on the outside where they can be productive and we feel they have an excellent chance of doing that."

The spokeswoman added that Barnes, who is expected to receive a parole, would probably be kept at the institution six days in two weeks after being approved for release.

Barnes was carted off to the century-old prison 114 days ago today after Judge Anthony A. Giannini rejected a last-minute attempt to delay the sentence.

Laker Girls Start Year Off Right

Lake Michigan Catholic's girls basketball team started off the season right as the Lakers downed Lakeshore 56-43 Tuesday night at Catholic's gym.

The Lakers had three girls in double figures led by Helen McQuillan with 14 points. Shelly Schmid added 13 and Sue Spear 11.

Those three helped overcome an outstanding offensive effort by Kim Foster who poured in 22 points for the Lakers.

Lakeshore had its problems from the floor as it hit only 14 of 70 (20 per cent) while Catholic made a credible 23 of 60 tries (38.3).

"It just turned into a shooting match and we were cold," lamented Lakers' coach Bill Davison.

"I think the strong point for us was the people coming off the bench," coach Wayne Stefanich of the Lakers stated. "Overall, sure I've got to be pleased but we have some work to do."

Diane Conrad came off the pine and led Catholic in rebounding with eight. Marlene Peldys grabbed off 11 for Lakeshore.

The Lakers held leads of 11-8, 26-19 and 42-37 at the quarter stops. Catholic put the game away in the last period by outscoring Lakeshore 14-6.

The Lakers won the junior varsity contest 31-25.

Swimming Pool Fight Flares Again In Lawton Village Council Meeting

LAWTON — The continuing controversy over the Lawton fire department's past practice of charging for filling swimming pools flared up again last night during an often heated meeting of the village council.

During one exchange between Trustee Earl Unrath and Roger Frank, a fireman, Police Chief Paul Grauman threatened to eject Frank from the meeting unless he settled down.

Trustee Russell Hackenberg also chided Frank later for swearing.

The exchanges took place after Frank had questioned why "donations" the fire department collected for filling pools had to go through village accounts when it was the fire department's money.

Unrath replied that the money collected was not a donation, but rather a fee charged by the fire department. He said that the village was bound by certain state regulations in the way it accounted for money.

The council had ordered the fire department to discontinue the practice of charging for filling swimming pools earlier this summer. Firemen reimbursed the village for the water, and used a penny per gallon pumping fee for equipment.

Firemen have appeared at council meetings to protest the discontinuation several times. Last month, Fire Chief William Cramerwell said that because of the disagreement and other "hassles" with the council, firemen had decided not to volunteer their labor to paint the fire hall.

At that time, he charged the fire department was continually receiving "flak" from the council everytime it tried to do something.

Village President James Moon said last night that since the August meeting, he has met with the fire board and believes most of the problems have been straightened out.

In other areas, the council accepted the resignation of Vivian L. Wickett as the village's alternate representative on the Lake View Community hospital board.

For quite some time, Mrs. Wickett said in a letter to the council, "I have doubted the integrity of the board, particularly the executive committee, due to its retaining Eastmark (formerly Videre, Inc.) to manage Lake View Community hospital at a high cost to the taxpayers and the 'paying' patients."

The hospital board has been under fire since it laid off 45 employees Aug. 5 in a cost cutting measure. One of the criticisms has been that it has allowed Eastmark, a Grand Rapids consulting firm, to have too much control over the running of the hospital.

Council voted 5 to 1 to appropriate $250 to Van Buren Youth Services, a juvenile delinquency prevention agency. Trustee Marshall Sanderson voted against the appropriation, saying there were better uses for the money in the village. Voting in favor were Unrath, Donald Bitley, Hackenberg, Warren Franklin, and Clifford Atwater.

In a unanimous vote, the council agreed to prohibit parking on Walker street between Fourth and Union streets. Grauman said the ban

Deadline For BH Superintendent's Post Is Extended

In a special public meeting last night the Benton Harbor school board voted to officially accept the resignation of Supt. Richard Helser of the Benton Harbor Area Schools and extend the deadline for applications for the job to Oct. 8.

The special meeting was called by Board Treasurer Freddie Moore and Trustee Arthur Crump, who said they were unaware of any efforts being made to recruit applicants for the anticipated vacancy. Helser announced his resignation Aug. 16, and no board meeting had been held since that date. The resignation is to take effect Dec. 2. Board President Edward Bentley explained the procedure for recruiting applicants for the position, and told the trustees that notices of the vacancy have already been sent to 32 universities across the country.

Moore and Crump proposed that since they were unaware of the action that had been taken, the original Oct. 1 deadline for applications should be extended by two weeks. The board struck a compromise and agreed to extend the final application date to Oct. 8.

Crump said that he felt the deadline should be extended so that all who are interested have a chance to apply for the position. Mrs. Janet Scott, board trustee, charged Moore and Crump with calling the special meeting and then demanding the extension because they failed to inform themselves of the steps that had been taken. "I won't argue that explanation," Crump replied laughingly. He has been traveling out of the country.

The board also discussed the possibility of allowing citizens of the school district to have some direct input into the selection of the new superintendent. A committee of board members to screen applicants is expected to be named at the next regular meeting of the board, Sept. 20.

More Government

NEW YORK (AP) — Government will play a bigger role than ever in the economic plans of the future, says Professor Geoffrey Barraclough in "Management Review," a publication of the American Management Association.

Council To Honor Retiree

Mrs. Mari O'Keefe is retiring after nearly 18 years on the staff of the Berrien County Council of Churches and will be honored at Thursday's meeting of the council.

Rev. Arnold Bolin, executive director of the council, said the recognition event will at Mrs. O'Keefe's home church, Saron Lutheran, 310 Main street, St. Joseph. The council will hold its business meeting at 7:30 p.m. followed by the recognition at 8, and the public is invited.

Mrs. O'Keefe has served in the council office as secretary, bookkeeper, and administrator of Camp Wirren. She also was acting executive director on two occasions between the hiring of new directors.

Rev. Bolin said a committee headed by Lillian Kerry is in charge of arrangements for the recognition.

Mrs. O'Keefe and her husband, Edward, live on Greenwood Park drive, north of the Twin Cities.

Weesaw Joins Water List

BRIDGMAN — Add Weesaw township to the list of municipalities that want to buy water from water-rich Lake township.

The Lake township board last night voted to meet with Weesaw township officials to discuss the purchase of water from Lake township which pumps its water through a purifying station from Lake Michigan. Chikaming township and Baroda village already have contacted Lake township about water purchases.

The Lake township motion to meet with Weesaw officials came after a letter from Weesaw township requesting water was read at the township meeting.

In other areas last night, the township board renewed for one year a garbage pickup contract with Ted Holt of Baroda at $850 per month, the same contract price as the present one. Holt was the only bidder.

The board also accepted the resignations of Larry Frank from the planning commission and of T.W. Reck as supervisor of cemeteries. Replacements will be named later, board members said.

Accused Mattawan Youth Seeks Vandalism Hearing

BY DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau
PAW PAW — A Mattawan youth accused of taking part in a vandalism spree Sunday that damaged two buildings east of here was arraigned yesterday in Seventh district court.

Alan R. Niederbauer, 17, Mattawan, was released on his own recognizance after demanding preliminary examination on two counts of malicious destruction of property. A Sept. 13 hearing was ordered.

Van Buren sheriff's deputies said obscenities were spray painted in the parking lot and on a sign at the Ports of Call party store on Red Arrow highway about three miles east of Paw Paw. Pizza sauce was also thrown around inside the building, deputies said.

Vandals also spray painted obscenities on the windows of a barber shop across the street, according to deputies.

Deputies said two 16-year-old Mattawan boys have been taken into custody in connection with the incident and will be petitioned into juvenile court on charges of malicious destruction of property.

The three suspects were apprehended with the aid of Bart, a state police tracking dog, who followed tracks from the store to a tent nearby where the youths were camping out, deputies said.

In other cases, Michael Bowling, 18, Kalamazoo, was ordered held on $5,000 bond after demanding preliminary examination on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, a .32-caliber pistol, on 14th avenue, South Haven township, on Saturday. The hearing was set for Sept. 13.

John S. Martinez, 30, Kalamazoo, demanded preliminary examination on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants, third offense, on Maple street in Paw Paw on Sunday. Bond was set at $1,000 pending a Sept. 13 hearing.

Russell W. Hess, 30, New Chicago, Ind., was bound over to circuit court after waiving preliminary examination on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, a .32-caliber pistol, Sunday on I-94 in Antwerp township. He was freed on $500 bond.

Candido E. Gonzalez, 21, River road, Sodas, was released after being sentenced by Judge William C. Bull to serve 60 days in jail, with as many days credit for time already served, as a result of his guilty plea to a charge of attempted fourth degree criminal sexual conduct (indecent liberties). He was also ordered to pay a $20 fine and $125 in court-appointed attorney's fees.

Gonzalez had been arrested in connection with an Aug. 7, 1976 complaint by a 16-year-old Coloma girl that she had been raped near Lawrence. The charge had been reduced from first degree criminal sexual conduct (rape).

of January 19, 1977 has been admitted to Probate and administration of the estate has been granted to John H. Duker, 470, Benton Harbor, Michigan 49022. Dated: August 27, 1977. John L. Glosensky, Attorney for Beneficiary, Glosensky, Glosensky, Glosensky & Glosensky, P.O. Box 122, St. Joseph, Mich. 49781. Phone 983-5571. Sept. 7, 1977. H.P. Adv.

Trooper Bribery Suspect Leads 43 Before Judges

A Chicago man accused of offering a $30 bribe to a state trooper was jailed in lieu of bonds totaling $4,000 yesterday after his arraignment in Berrien Fifth District court on two charges.

Roy Wright, 60, demanded preliminary examinations on charges of offering a bribe to Trooper Joseph VanOosterhout and of carrying a concealed weapon — a .25-caliber pistol — on I-94 in Benton township Saturday. The bonds were set by Judge Leo Cook.

The alleged bribe offer was made after VanOosterhout stopped a car on a charge of speeding, according to police accounts. The officer said the driver offered him $50 to let him go on his way.

In other District court actions yesterday and Saturday four people demanded examinations, and 38 were sentenced.

Mario Aguilera, 21, of route 1, Benton Springs, demanded a hearing on a charge of breaking and entering a house in Royalton township Sept. 5. He failed to post $3,500 bond and was jailed.

Lawrence J. Cetrulo, 26, of 210 West Third street, Buchanan, demanded a hearing on a charge of larceny in a building — the theft of cash from the office at the West Winds apartments, 808 West Front street, Buchanan, on Sept. 2.

Roosevelt Washington, 49, of Clayton, Louisiana, demanded a hearing on two charges of carrying concealed weapons — .32-caliber and .25-caliber pistols — on I-94 in Benton township Sept. 3. He failed to post bonds totaling $15,000.

David L. Briney, 17, of 595 Colfax avenue, Benton Harbor, demanded a hearing on a charge of larceny from a motor vehicle — a battery and a fishing pole from a car parked in Benton Harbor April 7. He failed to post $1,500 bond.

Sylvia Davis, 21, of 1284 Blossum lane, Benton township, was sentenced to one year in jail after she pleaded guilty to a charge of aggravated assault with a pen against Patrick McDonald at Bargain Center in Benton township July 16. A related charge of larceny in a building was dismissed. The larceny charge had alleged the theft of shoes from Bargain Center.

Gary L. Flakes, 19, of 1007 Buss avenue, Benton Harbor, was sentenced to nine months in jail for a probation violation — pleading guilty on Aug. 25 to a charge of entering without permission. The probation stemmed from an Aug. 22, 1976, conviction of attempted unlawful use of an automobile.

Samuel Warren, 27, of 207 Halstead, Dowagiac, was sentenced to pay a fine and costs of $75 or serve 10 days for malicious destruction of property — a mirror on a Berrien sheriff's car.

In a related charge, Warren pleaded innocent and waived a jury trial on a charge of assault and battery on Berrien Sheriff's Deputy Dan Gustafson Sept. 3.

Warren is accused of kicking Gustafson in the head while in custody after a disturbance at Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor.

Theodore R. Jones, 31, of Chicago was sentenced to $200 or 90 days for possession of an unregistered .38-caliber pistol on I-94 in New Buffalo township Sept. 3.

Ouster Buchanan Jr., 27, of 802 Lavette street, Benton Harbor, was sentenced to pay $122 for petty larceny — the theft of 30 pounds of spareribs from Lamonaco super market, Benton township, Sept. 5. His father, Gus Buchanan, 62, also of the Lavette address, was placed on deferred prosecution in connection with a similar charge, according to Berrien Prosecutor John Smielanka.

Under deferred prosecution, the charge would be dropped after a year of good behavior.

Robert Crain, 46, of Chicago, was sentenced to $40 or 10 days for indecent exposure at Warren Dunes State Park in Lake township Sept. 3. He was observed sunbathing in the nude.

Sentenced for the following violations were:

Shoplifting: Pearl Ann Foster (also known as Jones), 29, of 1753 East Britain avenue, Benton township, 30 days for taking six pairs of socks from Family Foods, Benton township; and Pauline Jones, 24, of 987 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, $122 or 30 days for taking clothing from Family Foods.

Driving with a suspended license: Roy Wade Jr., 27, of 932 Linden avenue, Benton township, three days and $80 or 30 days; Douglas L. Holmes, 24, of Detroit, three days and $85; and Joel B. Kelley, 19, of Lansing, three days and $82.

Reckless driving: Bobby Dean Viverette, 24, of 233 Lake avenue, Benton Harbor, $100; and Johnnie Lee Jenkins, 53, of 663 McGuigan avenue, Benton Harbor, $80 or 30 days.

Driving under the influence of intoxicants: Freddie C. Ferguson, 33, of Minneapolis, Minn., $152 or 30 days; and John C. Gawne, 24, of Oak Park, Ill., $150.

Impaired driving: William R. Frazier, 19, of 2141 Laura, rural Benton Harbor, $152 and six months probation; Gerald W. Todd, 26, of Lakeland, Ga., and Phillip W. Rice, 31, of 2700 South Lake Shore drive, St. Joseph, each $102 or 14 days; and Randall H. Cosens, 25, of 108 First street, Berrien Springs, $100.

Use of marijuana: William T. Trainor, 17, of 346 West Parsons, Watervliet, and Andres DeLeon, 21, of Watkegon, Ill., each $100 and six months probation. Edward P. Strahota, 24, of Murrsville, Pa.; Derrick Kinlaw, 24, of Ann Arbor; T. Charles Warren, 36, of Detroit; Bruce W. Yuhaz, 27, of Orchard Park, N.Y.; Richard P. DeSantis, 26, of Export, Pa.; Allison J. Boyd, 18, of Downers Grove, Ill.; Michael P. Toddhunter, 26, of Hoffman Estates, Ill.; Ronald P. McReynolds, 27, of Downers Grove, Ill.; David S. Bernhardt, 22, of Brookfield, Ill.; and Melvin Lee Bolden, 20, of Chicago, each $50 or 10 days. Steven R. Gray, 17, of Vicksburg, Mich.; Richard A. Hughey, 18, of Vicksburg; Anthony J. Skoda, 19, of Chicago; Brent L. Sanders, 17, of Portage, Mich.; and Steven Magazine, 20, of Chicago, each $30.
